3 GERMAN RAIDS ON BRITAIN

Zeppelins Establish New Record in the Frequency of Bomb Dropping on British Communities

London, April 3.—Three successive Zeppelin raids on three successive nights have taken sixty-nine lives and left one hundred and seventy-seven injured behind them.

In the latest raid, on the Scottish coast, south of the Tyne River, ten were killed and eleven injured.

In Saturday night's raid sixteen were killed and 59 injured.

Friday night, in the first raid of the series, the dead numbered 43 and the injured numbered 67.

Six Zeppelins took part in the last raid.

SEARCH FOR FLEET.

Confirmation of recent reports that the latest Zeppelin raids were for the purpose of locating the British grand fleet is seen in the fact that the coast of Scotland was attacked by the Zeppelins which took part in the raid last night.

Sunday's night attack, the third in three nights, will be followed by still other air raids within a short time, it is believed.

A very careful search was made for the coast, and particularly the harbors, where the Germans evidently expected to find warships at anchor.

The fact that the grand fleet has been reported in the vicinity of Kirkwall, Scotland, evidently led the German Zeppelins to attack in the northern part of the British Isles in hope of finding the anchorage of the fleet.

ENGLISH AROUSED.

So intense has feeling become over the wholesale killing of women and children by Zeppelins that demand is being made for the immediate execution of Lieutenant-Commander Breithaupt, commander of the Zeppelin L-15, which was brought down in the estuary of the Thames, Friday night.

Efforts are being made to bring to the surface the L-15. Admiralty officials believe that if the airship can be raised they will be able to learn important details as to the methods of construction.

An Exchange Telegraph Company dispatch says there were no casualties.

BLAME DEAD MAN FOR N. H. WRECK

Washington, April 3.—Blame for the fatal wreck on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad on February 22, at Milford, Ct., today was placed on a dead man. H. W. Kolnap, chief of the division of safety of the Interstate Commerce Commission, made a report on his investigation of the wreck, in which he said the engineer, Curtis, of passenger train No. 5, was to blame because he disregarded automatic block signals. Curtis' train crashed into a passenger train which had stopped.

Curtis and nine others were killed in the wreck. Belnap recommended that railroads be ordered to use automatic devices that will enforce obedience to signals.

Latest War Bulletins

Rome, April 3.—The Idea Nazionale states that Sidi Mohammed Helal, brother of the Grand Chief of the Senussi tribesmen, has arrived at Dorna with an offer of submission to Italy. The Senussi has been carrying desultory warfare with the Italians ever since the beginning of the Turko-Italian war.

Athens, April 3.—The populace has pillaged the building of the Serbian Legation at Sofia, says information obtained from a reliable source. The Bulgarian authorities arrested the men left in charge of the building. The American minister at Sofia protested to Premier Radoslavoff, who justified the action of the people on the ground that Serbia having ceased to exist as a nation, the legation building belonged to Bulgaria.

London, April 3.—The Admiralty today issued a denial of the German announcement that the British warship Donegal was sunk by a mine about the middle of February. The Donegal is a cruiser of 9,800 tons and carries 655 men.

ROXBURY MAN IS SHOT IN QUARREL

A Sunday morning shooting, in which John M. Barnes, tenant at No. 84 Humboldt avenue, Roxbury, is charged with firing three shots at Joseph Cheetham, the janitor, and hitting him with one of the bullets, became known when Barnes was arraigned in Roxbury Court today, in a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Barnes pleaded not guilty and was held in $5,000 for the Grand Jury.

Cheetham is recovering in the City Hospital.

According to police report of the case, an argument arose between Barnes and Cheetham. At 1:30 Sunday morning the police were called to the Humboldt avenue lace. They say that three shots had been heard. Barnes was arrested and Cheetham was sent to the hospital.

The police account continues that Barnes evidently climbed upon a trunk and fired three revolver shots through a transom into Cheetham's room. One shot hit the janitor in the neck, the bullet coming out through his mouth. The police say they found three bullets in the room where Cheetham was.

HOLLAND DENIES SHE PLANS WAR

By International News Service.

The Hague, via London, April 3.—Reports that the allies have brought pressure to bear upon Holland to take action derogatory to the commercial interests of Germany, have caused much uneasiness.

In an effort to allay this feeling of anxiety the Minister of Foreign Affairs has allowed the publication of an authorized statement to the effect that Holland's relations with foreign powers are favorable.

Holland's reserves of wheat have become practically exhausted and the government is planning to buy 100,000 tons in the United States in addition to the regular monthly consignment of 60,000 tons.

Several Dutch ships have been requisitioned to transport wheat as well as extra stores of corn, from America. The local branch of the bank of the Netherlands has experienced a light "run" Saturday and government bonds have declined in price.

FACTORY GIRLS ESCAPE NEW YORK FIRE

New York, April 3.—A spectacular fire, which threatened for a time to cause serious loss of life occurred in the heart of the downtown district this afternoon, which fire broke out in the five-story structure at No. 16 Beekman street.

The flames spread to the adjoining building at No. 18 Beekman street.

The buildings were mainly occupied by paper manufacturing plants, the paper offering fuel which caused the fire to spread quickly and burn fiercely.

There were about 125 persons employed in the building, many of them being girls.

It was fared that some of the employes had lost their way in the smoke-filled corridors and had been trapped, but half an hour after the fire had started the firemen announced that everyone in the two buildings had been saved.

Intense volumes of smoke rolled up from the burning buildings, filling the sixteen-story Morse building, at No. 140 Nassau street, giving rise to reports that that, too, was on fire.

Four alarms were turned in and the streets in the vicinity of the blaze were so somwed with people that police reserves had to be called to clear them.

WOMEN KILLED IN AUSTRIAN RIOTING

Rome, April 3.—Advices received here say that several women were killed in recent disorders in Vienna, Prague, Trieste and Agram. Crowds of women attacked the government offices, demanding bread and the conclusion of peace. The troops were called out and fired upon the crowds, killing several women.

New Orleans, April 3.—Decoyed from his hotel by a woman, General Eduardo de Bequer, formerly Francisco Villa's commander of cavalry, was badly beaten today by three men. The assailants escaped.

FINDS NO INSANITY IN WAITE

Husband of 'Studio Mate' Offers Reward for Proof That Wife's Relations Were Not Honorable

By FRANK CHARLTON.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

New York, April 3.—Dr. Morris J. Karpas, the alienist retained to examine Dr. Warren A. Waite, indicted murderer of his millionaire father-in-law, John E. Peck of Grand Rapids, Mich., said today that his examination so far has led him to believe that Dr. Waite was sane.

At the same time District Attorney Swann announced that he had sufficient evidence to bring Waite to trial at once on the charge of first-degree murder.

Angered by anonymous communications received by his wife, Harry M. Horton, husband of the "studio companion" of Dr. Waite, has offered $10,000 to any one who can prove that the relations between Mrs. Horton and the accused murderer were anything but honorable.

The latest sensation in the case is the confession by the accused man that he intended to kill his wife also in order to get her share of the Peck fortune.

In the presence of his attorney and of Dr. Karpas, Waite asked that newspaper men be called in and that he be allowed to tell the whole story once and for all.

But the Bellevue doctors decided that Waite was in no condition to receive the reporters. They forbade the interview. Furthermore, they decided that Waite shall not be arraigned today. The accused dentist will probably plead tomorrow or Wednesday.

But his attorney, Walter R. Deuel, brought out of the block ward 30

NEWPORT BUTLER KILLED BY BULLET

Newport, R. I., April 3.—George Wayman, thirty-five, unmarried, English butler to the wealthy Mrs. Sidney Webster at the Pen Craig villa on Harrison avenue, was discovered on the lawn today with a bullet in his head, and before the Newport Hospital could be reached Wayman died.

Report says Wayman shot himself, but the police, who are investigating, say no cause can be given for suicide.

CALL FOR FUND OF MILLION

Preachers Urged to Use Influence in Helping the Tabernacle Bill Through the State Legislature

A million-dollar guaranty fund for the Boston "Billy" Sunday campaign was urged today by Alvan W. Fuller in his address before the ministers of Greater Boston in the Park Street Church and $40,000 of this fund was raised in ten minutes.

"Those who take any of the pledge cards are invited to get all the ministers interested," said Mr. Fuller. "Then representative business men of Boston have put their names down for $5,000 each. This money is merely to back this campaign. We want this fund to indicate the interest and support of this great movement."

Amid great enthusiasm the meeting indorsed the plan of Mr. Fuller.

Allan C. Emery of Boston, who presided, called upon the ministers to use their influence with State Senators for the special bill permitting a "Billy" Sunday tabernacle to be built of wood instead of brick.

"This bill came up today in the House of Representatives and it is going before the Senate," he said.

"Do you know who are fighting us in this?"

"It is the liquor interests of the State. They do not want 'Billy' sunday here and they propose to block this legislation."

William Shaw, recently Prohibition candidate for Governor, made an earnest plea for the tabernacle to be built of wood.

"It is not class legislation that we are asking for in this special bill but every other city where Mr. Sunday has preached has given us the privilege to build a tabernacle out of wood. Boston must not refuse to grant this privilege," said Mr. Shaw.

Dr. A. K. de Blois of Boston spoke for the interests of the student body.

The principal address was made by the Rev. Dr. James Empringham of Syracuse, who told the work of "Billy" Sunday in that city.

"I was opposed to him at first, but I've lived to see my mistake," he said. "I want to tell others of the marvelous good this prophet has brought to the city where I have lived for nine years. I never saw anything like it."

BILLY SUNDAY CALLS ON THE PRESIDENT

Washington, April 3.—"Billy" Sunday shook hands with President Wilson today. Accompanied by "Ma" Sunday and twenty-three others who have been taking part in the meetings at the Tabernacle at Baltimore, Sunday called at the White House at noon and talked with the President for four minutes. The President was invited to attend one of the revival meetings.

President Wilson told Sunday that reports had come to him from Trenton, N. J., and Baltimore of the good work being done, General C. Murray of the Trenton Iron Works having made a personal report to the President.

Yes, he's a trail hitter," Sunday replied.

SCHILLER GOT NO HELP FROM SALEM GIRL

Miss Rose Haberlant of No. 15 Harbor street, Salem, who was an acquaintance of Clarence Reginald Hudson, alias Ernest Schiller, while he lived there, said today that she was not the young woman if there was such a woman who financed his plans to capture the British steamer Matoppa.

It was said further at Salem today that Schiller talked with Captain Enoch S. Perkins of the 3d Corps of Cadets and Sergeant W. A. Clay, relative to enlisting in the hope he'd be released sufficiently to become a naturalized citizen, but refused to accept unless he received pay for service.

Schiller captured the Matoppa after stowing away on her, and completely dominated her crew of

DODD RACES TO HEAD OFF BANDIT

San Antonio, Tex., April 3.—Unofficial dispatches received today stated that Brigadier-General Pershing's cavalry has again been in contact with the fleeing Villista bandits in Mexico. The reports were not confirmed by Major-General Funston. The advices did not give the location of the fighting.

San Antonio, Texas, April 3.—According to an announcement by Major General Funston today, Villa has escaped all immediate danger of capture.

General Funston said: "I know nothing definitely, but apparently Villa has slipped his halter; or, like my family dog, has slipped his collar and crawled under the gate and away.

"I want it distinctly understood by the American public that we have not got Villa surrounded. We never thought we had.

"We did have troops on two or three sides of a stretch of country where we were led to believe Villa might be. But we have not enough men to 'surround' the territory in which Villa is hiding. Our information as to his whereabouts is not sufficiently exact for that."

He added that a trainload of supplies sent by railroad has reached the American base in Mexico.

"More supplies are on the way," he said. "The United States army is not officially using the railway; but the Mormon merchants at Casas Grandes are doing a land office business."

He said five motor trucks had been added to the supply service. His only messages from Pershing for forty-eight hours had been acknowledgments of the receipt of messages from himself, he said.

USE APACHE SCOUTS.

It has been definitely decided to use Apache scouts in the hunt for Villa, it was announced at Fort San Houston. There are no more efficient man hunters in the world than these redskins.

Funston does not want any of the rangers Apached, but would prefer to get some of the older men who took part in the conflict between the American army and Geronimo.

"We are sometimes tempted to think that Dr. Wilson has no command of his empire, make it immediately obey Madero with a view to hanging it to his belt. GERMANS REJOICE WILSON HAS A WAR

London, April 3.—A Morning Post dispatch from Berne says the Germans are rejoicing over America's difficulties in Mexico, and quotes the Leipzig Neueste Nachrichten, an influential organ of the National Liberal Party, as saying:

"President Wilson now has his war, and we should make ourselves ridiculous if we concealed the fact we are glad he has it—as glad of the British as we are sorry that the sovereign of the President find scope in his own neighbors.

"We are sometimes tempted to think that Dr. Wilson has no command of his empire, make it immediately obey Madero with a view to hanging it to his belt. centrated in Chihuahua and Sonora. The theory was accepted at Fort Sam Houston, but rumor mongers in San Antonio accepted it with avidity.

Funston intimated that important developments might be expected soon, as Dodd's flying squadron is now racing to Chihuahua City to head off a Villa raid on that city.

Hundreds of Villa followers are reported to be awaiting Villa near Chihuahua City.

General Pershing, commander of the punitive expedition, has himself gone to the far southern front.

This indication, according to officers at Fort Sam Houston, that an even more important battle than that fought in the Guerrero district five days ago is imminent.

The extreme cold and snowstorms in the mountain districts, neither the American troops nor bandits are causing Villa's partisans serious suffering, and General Funston hopes that the campaign can be quickly terminated.

He pointed out today that if the soldiers should be given heavy outfits for the coming march across the desert they would have collapsed.

Carranzista Forces Mass at Chihuahua

El Paso, April 3.—Pancho Villa has apparently slipped out of the reach of American carbines with his fox-like cunning and today is somewhere in the arms of the treacherous Sierra Madre Mountains, which saw the birth and beginning of his bloody career.

The trail of his wild horsemen twisted high in the rugged peaks and defied the eager eyes of the American cavalry.

The American troopers were anxious to press forward. So anxious that it was necessary for their officers to hold them in check. For all over Mexico has settled an ominous and forbidding silence so deeply portentous that it is almost obvious. It is the silence which frontiersmen suspect, the silence of the Indian hushing volubly and demonstrative Spanish of the Mexican.

Agents of the State Department on the border have learned that at least 10,000 Carranzista troops are mobilized in Chihuahua within twenty miles of the International boundary. General Carranza has admitted that such a mobilization is in progress and has explained it as a precautionary move against an uprising by followers of Felix Diaz, yet up to this time there has been no hint that such an uprising was threatened.

Other troops are said to have gathered in southern Sonora. On top of this news comes word from the front that the reported battle at El Oso was an official Mexican "fake" and that Mexican troops there had made no efforts to halt Villa.

There is no official explanation from Carranza sources regarding the "disappearance" of General Luis Herrera and Colonel Cano.

Herrera with 1,200 cavalry left Chihuahua with a dramatic message to Consul Garcia in El Paso that he would send back the head of Villa. He was headed for Guerrero, 400 hundred miles away. Today there was no news of his command.

Colonel Cano almost as dramatically declared he would give his life blood to run down Villa. He was a Nemiquipa district at the time. Now word comes that he is near Laguna, 150 miles south of Juarez, with 300 well equipped cavalry. To reach here he marched directly away from the scene of conflict.

The mysterious movement of Carranzista troops, the mobilization near the border of strong Mexican forces and the strange behavior of Mexican federal leaders in Juarez today added to the tension on the border.

The orders for the Carranza troop movements have all come from General Alvaro Obregon, Minister of War in the Carranza cabinet.

Some of Obregon's orders have fallen into the hands of United States officials. First, these orders indicate, "the time is not yet opportune," consistantly occurs.

Second—It is believed that this mobilization of troops can mean but one of two things.

First—To resist possible American intervention.

Second—An Obregon plot to overthrow Carranza and seize the government of Mexico himself.

Believe Cano Has Joined Villa

Washington, April 3.—War Department officials today credited reports from the border that Colonel Cano, Carranza commander, and his force have joined Villa.

It was stated that no official advices to that effect have been received, but that such a move had been expected, many officials believed that Cano's men there were with Villa's band when Colonel Dodd's forces defeated it last week at Guerrero.

Confirm Report of Villa's Wound

El Paso, Tex., April 3.—General Rivera, Carranzista commander at Juarez, today received a message from Luis Gutierez, governor of Chihuahua, Carranza commander, and his force have joined Villa.

It was stated that no official advices to that effect have been received, but that such a move had been expected, many officials believed that Cano's men there.

WAR SUMMARY

The Germans, after a lull of many days, having resumed their steady pressure on the defences of Verdun, were making slow, but steady, progress today.

The latest gain carried them a distance of from one to three miles south of Fort Douaumont, which they have held since early in the battle. The exact extent of their gain cannot be stated, for the bulletins are not definite. The French say the Germans "penetrated Caillette wood," but add that counter-attacks drove them back into the "northern part of the wood."

Caillette wood begins about one mile south of Fort Douaumont and runs about two miles southward from that point. The new German positions in this wood are the nearest to Verdun proper; the distance is a little less than four miles in a straight line. Incidentally, this advance makes it possible for them to attack the defences of Fort Vaux from two sides, this fort now forming the apex of the angle in the French lines northeast of the fortress. Fort Vaux is four and a half miles from the citadel, and is half surrounded.

Thrice in three days Zeppelins have raided England; and it appears their raids have covered much of the eastern coast from Dover to Rosyth. London believes the Zeppelins seek to discover the fleet. If this is true, and they succeed, a naval battle of consequence may follow. If it is not true, then these raids are mere maurauding expeditions, of no considerable military importance, save as training for the later aerial attacks on a large scale, which are sure to come unless Germany gains her victory on the continent. A Zeppelin also raided Dunkirk today.

There are growing indications that a German attack may be launched south of the Somme, in the direction of Amiens. Almost every day the bulletins speak of artillery and infantry fighting in this zone. The attack, if it comes, will probably be against the point where the French defenders of the trenches give way to the less thoroughly trained English troops who have taken their place since it became necessary to draw off French troops for Verdun. The fighting at Verdun has assumed something the character of a whirlpool, sucking troops from all directions to this centre.

The fighting in Russia, in the Trentino, in the Caucasus and in Mesopotamia was without feature today.

ZEPPELINS SEEKING FLEET

DUNKIRK BOMBARDED.

A dispatch from Paris says Dunkirk has been bombarded by a Zeppelin airship. It was officially announced today. The bombs hailed from the aerial raider upon the French channel port killed two civilians, but from a military standpoint the attack was a failure, only insignificant damage having been caused.

Berlin has issued an announcement of the Friday raid, admitting the loss of Zeppelin L-15, but describing the adventure as an attack on London, with bomb dropping between Tower Bridge and the docks, on military camps, manufactories and ammunition works at Waltham Abbey. All of this the British censor says is "absolutely false." The denial applies to every part of the Berlin report except the loss of the L-15.

In its report on the Saturday night raid the Berlin Admiralty says heavy damage was inflicted on British industrial establishments. It also announced that all Zeppelins returned safely.

The British censor denies the truth of the German version of the raids.

Zeppelin Crew Blames 'Superior'

By GEORGE F. ALLISON.

Chatham, Eng., April 3.—By courtesy of the British War Office, I visited the military barracks here and for more than an hour chatted freely with the crew of the L-15, the German Zeppelin brought down off the coast of Kent by English fire during the raid of Friday night.

My interview with the men took place in the corridor and the prisoners were brought out in twos. They were all young men, varying in age between twenty and thirty. Only one had suffered from a slight wound in his wrist, while another seemed to be suffering from the shock of immersion. The remainder were unhurt and were surprisingly cheerful.

WILLING TO TALK.

Of the six I personally interrogated, every man expressed himself fully satisfied with the treatment received from the British authorities. It is significant to note that, despite the fact that I addressed them in German, each member of the crew with whom I talked asserted that his work was entirely connected with the Zeppelin machinery and disclaimed any knowledge of dropping bombs.

Five out of the six denied having been previously over England in a Zeppelin raids, but one stalwart Teuton, wearing only a shirt and leather breeches and leggings, frankly said that this was his third trip. All talked freely when assured that they were speaking to the representative of an American news service, and one, knowingly perfected that I spoke but little English, which he had acquired on a short holiday trip to New York.

To the pertinent inquiry as to whether they were aware that they had killed inoffensive non-combatants, women and children, each stoutly asserted that he was aware of nothing save that he was obeying orders and doing as he had been told by superior officers.

Would Accept Sussex Denial

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 3.—Unless Germany of her own motion accepts responsibility for the attack on the steamer Sussex, the United States can take no definite action for some time.

This was made plain today when State Department officials declared that until they had the complete text of the affidavits sent by Ambassadors Sharp and Page by special messenger, now en route to the United States on the American liner St. Paul, which sailed today, it could not be determined whether this country can hold Germany responsible.

Summaries of these affidavits, embied by the embassies in London and Paris, are admittedly inconclusive.

Ambassador Gerard has notified the State Department that he has been promised a direct answer by Germany within a day or two as to whether a German submarine was responsible for the attack on the Sussex.

Officials say that suggestions that the United States will reject flatly a plea by Germany that none of her U-boats was to blame are without foundation. The position of the United States, an official explained today, is about as follows:

The majority of the American survivors of the Sussex flatly assert that a submarine attacked the Sussex. The French and British Admiralties make the positive charge that this is so, but in not a single instance is the proof offered conclusive, the torpedo being based on the oath of the captain and quartermaster of the steamer that they saw the wake of a torpedo and attempted to avoid it. This evidence hardly would be accepted in a Federal Court, and if Germany denies the truth of it, then the United States must decide whether it can hold Germany responsible merely on the weight of this evidence. Most of those familiar with the situation very much doubt this.

In view of the fact that Germany has seemingly been frank in accepting responsibility in the case of her agents in all correspondence with the United States, officials declare that a denial by that government must be accepted at its face value.

Officials frankly say that the decision to break with Germany is based on the assumption that absolute violation of promises can be proven and that unless this proves true the President will defer all planned action until his case is complete.

NO SALEM HELP FOR SCHILLER

fifty-six men, from the captain down. At his command, they brought the vessel to the Delaware coast, where Schiller was captured by the United States authorities.

Miss Gabortault, who is twenty-three years old, said she met Schiller when, under the name of Clarence Howard, he boarded in the same house with her in Salem.

"As Clarence Howard," she said, "he was very gentlemanly, and was well liked by all the boarders.

"He came to Salem as a machinist and was engaged setting up machinery in the Naumkeag Mills.

"It appeared to be exceptionally well-educated and claimed to speak German and Russian. He frequently expressed strong sympathy for the German cause, but to me he never spoke of revenge against England.

"I have written him one letter since he left here, but it is not true that I am engaged to him. There was never any such talk between us."

Napoleon Levesque, who was Hudson's landlord in Salem, said:

OTHERS UNDER ARREST.

"At times I noted the talk this man made against England, and more than once expected his room, but never found anything wrong. Most of us thought he was mentally unsound."

Hudson, or Schiller, told the New York police that he arrived in Salem after being deported from England, and that his efforts to capture and destroy a British vessel were financed by a young Salem woman. Two other men have been arrested in New York as a result of Hudson's story.

Otto Milleder was arrested in the apartment of Otto Goritz, Metropolitan Opera House singer. George Haller, the second prisoner, was captured in Hoboken and locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Milleder, who is twenty-three, was in the Goritz apartment to call on Miss Goritz, the maid. Haller followed the apartment and found Milleder in a clothes closet.

According to Captain Tunney, Milleder admitted having planned with Schiller the Kingsley plot. He said, according to the captain, that, while he received over $5, and again $10, with which to buy dynamite, he did not buy it. He said he thought Schiller responsible and spent the money on himself.

"It was all a joke," declares Haller. "Schiller, or Hudson, wanted to sink the Pannonia, and we guaranteed to help him, but we only did it to get money. We had no serious intention of helping him."

Milleder said he had worked on several vessels, among others the Pannonia, on one voyage to Brazil. He took place a few weeks ago. He was locked up on the plot charge.

Detectives are working to ascertain whether or not the prisoners were implicated in any of the pro-German plots to blow up ships carrying ammunition to the allies.

GET NEW CLUES.

Hudson told the authorities that he acted on his own initiative, but federal agents believe that he may have been concerned in some of the ship plots concocted by Lieutenant Fay.

Additional information concerning Hudson was given the New York police today and will probably be introduced when Schiller is arraigned there tomorrow.

It is said that Hudson's nationality is really English, that he is a graduate of Eton and that his father is the English superintendent of the Vladivistok cotton mills in Moscow, Russia. Hudson's mother and sisters are now in England.

Gerard to Stick to Post Until War is Ended

Berlin, April 3.

JAMES W. GERARD, American ambassador, through the Wolff Bureau answers the report telegraphed here from the United States that he intends to resign, return to America and become a candidate for Governor of New York. His statement says:

The ambassador regards it as his duty not to leave the important post at Berlin during the war, especially as any possible successor would not easily work into the difficult and often complicated matter of British interests entrusted to him, like those of civil and mil..ary prisoners. He hopes to stay in Berlin at least till the end of the great war.

7 MORE BOATS SUNK; TOLL OF 24 LIVES

By International News Service.

London, April 3.—Seven steamers, four British and three Norwegian, have been sunk during the past twenty-four hours, with a probable toll of twenty-four lives.

The British steamer Achilles was torpedoed without warning, according to the announcement issued here today, and four of the crew are missing. They are believed to have perished. The other sailors were landed.

A submarine also sunk the British steamer Perth. Six members of her crew perished. Eight were rescued. The vessel was unarmed and is understood to have been attacked without warning.

The loss of the Achilles became known last night, but the details showing the vessel was unwarned by the submarine before it did not arrive until today. The Achilles displaced 7,943 tons gross. It sailed for Liverpool, its port of registry, on March 6 from Capetown.

The Perth was of 853 tons, hailing from Glasgow. It sailed between Scotch and English ports.

The Norwegian steamer Peter Hamre was another victim. So far only one member of fifteen has been reported saved.

The other boats sunk were the Norwegian steamers Hans Gude and the Iona, 702 tons, and the British steamers Guidamonte and Ashburton. The crews of all four have landed safely.

The Ashburton was unarmed.

Russia's Complaint on the Portugal.

Washington, April 3.—Ambassador Bakhmetieff of Russia today filed with Secretary of State Lansing an official statement from the Russian government in which it was charged that an enemy submarine sank the Francesco Inserino, bound for Portugal in the Black Sea, March 30, after that ship's engines had been stopped. The loss of life is given at 87 of 272 passengers and crew.

The statement says the ship's captain ordered the engines stopped when a submarine was seen approaching, but that the submarine fired a torpedo without giving a chance to place the Portugal's passengers and crew in boats.

SMYRNA FORTS ARE RAZED BY BRITISH

London, April 3.—Forts St. George and Sanjak as well as the other coastal defenses of Smyrna, were destroyed Friday in a three-hours' bombardment by a British warship, says a dispatch to the Times from Salonica. The Turks did not reply to the fire of the warship.

Sanjak is the chief work commanding the entrance to Smyrna Harbor. St. George is about three miles to the southeast.

GIANT GUNS HAMMER VERDUN

By International News Service.

London, April 3.—Forty-two centimeter guns, the most powerful in the world, are now being used by the Germans in their bombardment of the French positions at Verdun.

French aviators are trying to learn the location of these monster guns which accounts for the extraordinary aerial activity which has prevailed over the Verdun front for the past forty-eight hours.

By their capture of a foothold in Caillette wood, south of Fort Douaumont, Caillette wood, south of Fort Douaumont, and Fort Douaumont, the Germans are attempting to make further progress in Caillette wood, but counter-attacks by the French appear from the latest official reports to be throwing back the attacking forces.

NO INFANTRY ACTION.

The present indications are that the Germans are resolved to batter their way through to Verdun on the east bank of the Meuse, the French official communique says, as no infantry action occurred on the west bank during the night.

The text of today's French communique follows:

"Last night a Zeppelin threw eight bombs on the town of Dunkirk, causing no important damage. Two civilians were killed and four wounded.

"West of the Meuse the bombardment continued at the villages of Haucourt and Esnes without any infantry action.

"East of the Meuse, the combats which continued throughout the night in the region of Douaumont and Vaux were of a character favorable to us. We gained ground in Caillette woods.

"Our line, resting against Vaux pond, on the right, traverses Caillette wood, of which the enemy holds the north section, and rejoins our positions south and west of the village of Douaumont.

HEAVY GERMAN LOSSES.

"It is now established that the attacks made by the Germans yesterday were on a front of three kilometres (1.9-10 miles) and in successive waves, followed by massed assaulting columns. Our artillery and our rifle fire caused heavy losses in the ranks of the enemy.

"In the Woevre the night passed quietly.

"In Lorraine our artillery fire caused numerous fires in Rema wood, west of Leintrey. In the region of Ancerviller, a reconnaissance force of the enemy which attempted to approach our positions was repulsed by our rifle fire. Near Moyens, a German aeroplane fell in our lines. The aviators were made prisoners."

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL

Governor McCall late today signed the bill for a constitutional convention.

The bill provides that the voters at the next State election shall decide whether a constitutional convention shall be held, beginning on the first Wednesday in June, 1917, to revise, alter or amend the Constitution.

"This was the first recommendation in my inaugural address and the most important," said the Governor today. "You may recall I was united that my recommendation might be defeated in the Legislature."

The bill provides for a constitutional convention of 320 members to be elected without party designation, of whom sixteen shall be elected at large, 64 from the sixteen Congressional districts and the remaining 240 from the present legislative representative districts.

The delegates from the congressional district may run without the limitation of district residence.

If the people decline for a convention the primaries will be held on the first Tuesday in April, 1917. Primaries will be necessary only in those districts which have candidates equalling or exceeding three times the number to be elected.

A special election will be called for the first Tuesday in May, 1917.

WILL GO TO PEOPLE.

The bill provides that the convention shall be called to order by the Governor of the Commonwealth. After the election of a President and such other officers as may be necessary, the convention shall take into consideration "the propriety and expediency of revising the present constitution of the Commonwealth, or of making alterations or amendments thereof."

The proposed changes would be submitted to the people for their acceptance or rejection at the Fall election in 1917.

As the bill instructs the sergeant-at-arms to provide accommodations, it is naturally expected that the convention will be in the Hill of Representatives at the State House. The salary of the members shall not exceed $700 each.

It is estimated that the expense of the convention would not exceed $225,000.

LAST CONVENTION IN '53.

It was principally through his successful fight to urge a constitutional convention that Governor McCall secured the support of the Progressive Wing of his party in the last election, for publicity circulated in favor of the holding of a convention to modernize the fundamental law of the State would be one of the most progressive steps taken by the State in a generation.

The last convention was in 1853.

DISMISS ENGINEER BLAMED FOR WRECK

Cleveland, O., April 3.—Engineer Herman Ress has been dismissed by the New York Central railroad, as a result of the wreck Wednesday at Amherst, he is held responsible for the wreck by the railroad officials.

Townsman Albert Kraut, one of the chief witnesses at the Coroner's inquest into the accident, will be retained, as will Flagman Percy Heath, prosecutor Edward Kosher announced today. Engineer Ress charges that he did not properly flag Joes' train.

The investigation of the wreck was to be resumed today when several experts for the interstate Commerce Commission and the Public Utilities committee planned to begin a thorough test of the entire signal system on the line adjacent to the wreck.

ARRAIGN ENGINEER IN DEATH CASE

Fitchburg, April 3.—Walter Dibble of Somerville, a locomotive engineer, was arraigned in the Police Court today on a charge of manslaughter, it being alleged that his negligence results in the death of nine persons, three at Westminster, February 27, in which Fred J. Wallace, a conductor of Concord, sustained injuries which caused his death. The case was continued for hearing.

Going to Elope? Try Bellows Falls; Eight Boston Couples Wed

Eight Boston couples, 3 women to a car, and Sarah R. Brockelbank, No. 1 Lincoln court, were married in Bellows Falls, Vt., in state.

For years Providence was the goal of Boston eloping folks, until the easier marriage laws Amendment to the marriage laws in Rhode Island drove the matrimonially inclined to New Hampshire, with or Nashua and Portsmouth specially bound to rival Providence.

Now, however, newly passed laws in New Hampshire have turned the procession to Vermont and as Bellows Falls is the nearest place of consequence to Boston in Vermont, Bellows Falls is getting the cream of the business.

Vermont laws call for no delays, and in Bellows Falls you can get married while you wait. Returns for the month of March, received today by the city clerk, show that in that month eight Boston couples eloped to Bellows Falls. Five of these were married by a justice of the peace. Following is the list of the couples married in Bellows Falls during March:

James J. Fennessey, twenty-one, No. 15 Dey street, Boston, married by Rev. Monsignor J. Furlong, twenty. No. 15 Dey street, married by O. M. George, J. P.

Joseph O'Brien, twenty-one, No. 100 East Fourth street, machine operator, Boston Catholic, married by Rev. Monsignor J. Furlong, twenty-one, No. 15 Dey street, married by O. M. George, J. P.

Frank J. Sullivan, twenty-eight, Hotel Oxford, traveling salesman, and Katherine B. Comerford, twenty-six, of No. 31 Fuller street, married by O. M. George, J. P.

Percy A. Marston, twenty-one, No. 20 Wilson street, Somerville, clerk, and Florence Eyre Vale Hartwell, nineteen, of No. 29 Parkvale avenue, Allston, married by Thomas E. O'Brien, J. P.

George Frumbach, caterer, of Kent, New York, mechanic, and Lucy V. Gilman, twenty-five, Forest Hills, married by Rev. Alfred C. Wilson.

Frank H. Glidden, twenty-four, No. 56 Shirley street, Dorchester, and Ethel Shirley Dow, Canton Free State, Africa, twenty, and Mary E. Perkins, eighteen, No. 75 Bellis avenue, Dorchester, married by J. Wallace Chesbro, Baptist clergyman.

Engagement of Phyllis Sears Is Announced

By MRS. C. H. WASHBURN.

Herbert M. Sears of Commonwealth avenue, is formally announcing today the engagement of his youngest daughter, Miss Phyllis Sears to Bayard Tuckerman, Jr. Miss Sears' sister is Mrs. Bayard Warren. Their late mother was Caroline Bartlett, and there is a large and prominent social connection on both sides. Miss Sears' coming out reception two years ago was a large ball at the Copley-Plaza.

Mr. Tuckerman is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Tuckerman of New York and Ipswich. He was graduated from Harvard in 1910, and is now in Boston, occupying a house on Mount Vernon street. Mrs. Tuckerman is one of the prominent Cotting-Smith family.

The young man graduated from Harvard in 1911 and his business interests are in Boston. He is a prominent and very popular sportsman, and this year is to serve his second term as chairman of the board of stewards for the Country Club races, in addition to his stirings of racers which has an extensive kennel.

Yacht Carnegie Makes Southern Circle of Globe

By International News Service.

Lyttleton, N. Z., April 3.—The American scientific yacht Carnegie arrived here today after completely circumnavigating the globe in a southern latitude. She covered 17,000 miles in 120 days, completing the voyage in one season, and thus establishing a record.

Valuable scientific information was secured by the Carnegie in regions which had never been properly surveyed.

The Carnegie is the famous non-magnetic craft built for the department of terrestrial magnetism of the Carnegie institute in Washington. Practically no iron, steel or other magnetic metal was used in its construction.

The ship sailed from New York in March, 1915, for a two-year cruise in Antarctic and other waters. Previous to that time it had traveled more than 200,000 miles in the interest of science. During the Summer of 1914 it surveyed the waters about Iceland and Greenland.

During the Antarctic voyage just ended, the Carnegie crossed the course of Sir Ernest Shackleton's exploration ship Aurora.

BIG OPERA STARS HERE

Guilio Gatti-Casazza, the manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York and Annemarie are here.

Gatti-Casazza says a diseuse is on the most interesting three weeks of opera it ever knew.

"Tis such opera fun; says it is feeling splendid, thank you.

Annemarie says: "Sure."

Only one of the three mentioned above needs introduction. Gatti-Casazza is, of course, the gifted and imposing general manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company. He and the opera company—except such who came ahead and stars yet to come—arrived at the Back Bay station at 4.30 yesterday afternoon, ready for a three weeks' season of grand opera at the Boston Opera House, beginning tonight.

And, by special request of Billy Guard, press agent, it is timed upon the Boston opera-goers to be prompt tonight, for the curtain goes up at 8, sharp.

The operatic outfit came from New York in Boston on two special trains. In the first section traveled the chorus, ballet, stage working staff and baggage. The second section brought Gatti-Casazza, conductors, directors, business staff and artists, to say nothing of Annemarie.

Regarding Annemarie:

ANNEMARIE IS HERE.

That's her name, all one word, just as written. She is the first and only child of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Braun and, take it from Pops, she is one remarkable infant.

Mr. Braun, as one knows, is the German basso who is to sing the role of King Marke in "Tristan and Isolde" next Wednesday night. Two years ago he married Gertrude Bohr, a German actress. Seven months ago, up in the Adirondacks, a baby girl was born to the Brauns and they named her "Annemarie."

"Yes, all one word," says the proud, pleased parent. "Annemarie—no, no! Anna Marie, but Annemarie—one word, just like that. Seven months old, yes."

From the same authoritative source the P. P. P., one learns that Annemarie will one month from now, be traveled. She came down from the Adirondacks to Manhattan at the tender age of two months, taking a twelve-hour auto ride like a veteran. Soon after, the Braun family based came on to Boston with the rest of the Metropolitan stars, he brought Mme. Braun—she is Gertrude Bohr—and little Miss Annemarie Braun right along with him.

ARRIVED IN BOSTON TODAY.

There were no other babies on the special and Annemarie was petted almost to an infantile finish by Louise Cox and Marie Rappold and Leo Slezak and other stars on board.

Annemarie is a soprano so far only. Even with an amazingly high range, especially when she is hungry. When she really wishes to register, she can do in the way of sustained high pitch she can take the lofty notes of any diseuse, even Marie Barrientos, the Spanish coloratura soprano.

Annemarie is not at all excited about the opera. As long as she gets her 8th or eight or her regular meals a day she should worry.

But, what do the stars think about the singers, the rest of the stars? Were they aboard? How about Caruso and Farrar and Martinelli and de Segurola and Didur and the others?

Some were and some weren't. Thus, Geraldine Farrar, Lou-Tellegen, who says he is not married, arrived here Wednesday manlnee, arrived here at 2 o'clock this afternoon and Pasquale Amato, baritone, at 7. Allen, Kurt and Bendach come tomorrow. Goritz Wednesday, Booth Thursday, Gandi Friday and Picna Hempel not until next Sunday.

But there were plenty who did come, about 400 or so. The entire operatic camp is divided into the chorus, ballet, orchestra, fifty-five solos, seventy principals and balance of managers, conductors, directors and wage staff.

GATTI-CASAZZA CHEERFUL.

Arriving in the second special with Gatti-Casazza were Andreas Dippel, manager, Bavagnoli and Polacco, Assistant Conductors Bamberschi, Hoff, Romeo and Steiner, Technical Director Sladic, Business Representative Wolf, Chorus Master Setti, Stage Managers Speck and Herbelein and the following artists:

Mmes. Alda, Mason, Rappold and Sparkes; contraltos, Braslau, Duchene, Matifeld, Perini and Roberson; tenors—Althouse, Paladino, Reda, Bloch, Botta, Damoreau and Telva; baritones—De Luca, Leonhardt, Reschiglian, Tegani and Weil, and basses—Braun, Malatesta, Reiss, Rothier, Ruysdael, de Segurola and Scott.

MONSIGNOR LYONS DIES IN DELAWARE

Wilmington, Del., April 3.—Right Rev. Mgr. John A. Lyons died at St. Peter's Cathedral today after a long illness. He was seventy-four years old. In 1911 he was created a domestic prelate.

PUZZLED BY POKER HOLDUP

The police of the Dedham street station are placed in a dilemma today. The three masked robbers who broke up an all-night stud poker game in a West Newton street house early yesterday morning, and with drawn pistols lined $2,000 in cash and jewelry from the table and players, possess.

The police realize that such a high-handed outrage should be investigated and the robbers punished if possible, but they are confronted by obstacles.

Success in the matter depends on the testimony of the victims, and in the broken police station some forty men and will oppose themselves to the manner of prosecution for gaming of the local's City.

Police activity now, it is pointed out, would serve only to emphasize the fact that gambling is brisk in the little police precinct.

Despite inquiry by the police today, convinced officers that the hold-up was what they termed an "inside job," no unarrested person, known to be with the premises, and possessing a motive, has yet been questioned and held.

AFTER ROYAL ROOTER.

Opinion in police and sporting circles today was that the robbers was after Dan Ryan, "Prince" member of the Royal Rooters who of late has been known to a sporting and gambling quarter to have had a "roll" and often to have flashed it.

It develops that all but nine of the cash raided from the pockets belonged to members of the Royal Rooters, who was new to that house and who had only been in on one game previously. He had a key to the house, but had difficulty in locating it in the dark, and when the game for heavy stakes got under way.

There were five players at the table when the so-called bandits entered to three navy Fashion. Hose, cards and greenbacks were on the table. A guard was at the door and his task was to give the signal when he let it be known about all that was to happen.

Shortly after midnight, however, there was the sound of scuffling and loud talk in the entryway and the players were astounded to see in the door to the gathering apartment, facing with a long cane, three of the young men strike into the room, each with a cocked revolver in his right hand.

LOST A VALUABLE DIAMOND.

The robbers were handkerchiefs across the lower part of their faces and though assistants in their movements, with dispatch and sufficient steadiness to cower the five players, who were stood up in a row against the wall while one of the men rifled their pockets and pulled watches and studs.

The Royal Rooter, besides his roll, is said to have lost a valuable diamond stud which was ripped from his shirt.

No formal complaint has been made to the police, who learned of the affair through underground channels.

SHACKELTON'S SHIP TOWED INTO PORT

By International News Service.

Dunedin, N. Z., April 3.—Famished out news of the war and other European events, members of the Shackelton Antarctic expedition arrived here today on the Aurora from Port Chalmers after having been out of communication with the outside world for seventeen months.

"It might appear to some that we had run away to save our lives, leaving the Grove Shackleton and four other members of the party in danger, but that is not the case," said Chief Officer Stephouse of the Aurora.

"As a matter of fact the ship was badly damaged by ice floes and we were locked in a floe for seven weeks. We were on the point of abandoning the ship and reaching Ocean Island, when we got released and picked up the members of the expedition left ashore, but the damage to the Aurora was too great to permit this. We carried enough anchors and hawsers to moor a battleship, but the ropes snapped like thread when the wind caught us. The ship then began to drift."

50,000 LOBSTERS SAVE THE DAY

Fifty thousand large, fresh lobsters, popularly known as food for chorus girls, arrived here today on the steamer Prince George from Yarmouth, N. S.

This is the first large shipment here since last Fall. The wholesale price immediately dropped from 75 cents to 50 cents, thereby putting the crustacean within the reach of penniless thespians.

The large part of the shipment was snapped up by Boston dealers for an American army, but it is expected that the middle of next week other cities were also filled.

100 PAINTERS IN BROCKTON STRIKE

Brockton, April 3.—One hundred Brockton painters today went on strike because the master painters refused to employ Boston men. The agreement offered by the union was agreement would also arbitration, and young girls the right to purchase their own supplies. There was no reason for eight wages or shorter hours. There are 175 painters in Brockton, seventy-five of whose employers have signed the agreement, remained at work today.

READY FOR BIG LEGAL FIGHT FOR ORPET

Washington, D. April 3.—The preparation for the opening trial of William H. Orpet, which is scheduled to open before the District Court of the District of Columbia on the 10th of next Monday, April 10, are now being final preparations for a bitter legal battle.

The trial is anticipated as one of the most sensational and dramatic that ever stirred in the Middle West on account of the youth of the defendant and of the girl who, according to the State, was his fatuous victim, on account of the issue of bliss and ending love.

Orpet is charged with murder in causing the death by poison of eighteen-year-old Marion Lambert, whose body was found in the Potomac River. Orpet and Miss Lambert were lovers, and the girl had been Marion Lambert's assistant. But in and become engaged to Miss Celeste Vanaes of Denver.

On Sunday, February 6, the body of Marion Lambert was found in the Potomac River. Orpet, it is charged, had murdered the girl by poisoning her before the 6 o'clock morning. The girl had not been seen the night before.

The girl had been poisoned with cyanide of potassium. Young Orpet was arrested. He admitted having spent a night with the girl in the woods on the outskirts of the city, but denied the murder.

He said he told Marion that he was to marry another girl. He denied having anything about poison. He said he had not seen or heard of Miss Lambert. The evidence set up against him, however, threw suspicion on the young man, and he was indicted by the grand jury. Orpet's attorneys declared that they would be ready for the trial by the 10th of April, and it is expected that the case will be reached by that time.

CONFESSES MURDER AT NEW BEDFORD

New Bedford, April 3.—A warrant was issued today by Judge E. A. Hill of the Municipal Court charging Manuel Mendes, 20, with the murder of Manuel Rodrigues, 21, on the night of last Friday.

Mendes, who himself an undertaker, confessed to the murder of Rodrigues immediately at 81 Lewis street, where a bullet in his right temple caused almost instantaneous death. Mendes is in custody.

The witness is Mendes' brother-in-law, Manuel Rodrigues, Jr., a brother of the murdered man.

IDENTIFY PRISONER AS MAN ON PAROLE

Pittsburgh, April 3.—Identification of Frank Conley as the man who escaped from the Western Penitentiary on parole in 1913 and who was arrested in Boston last week, was made today by Warden A. W. Lee of the penitentiary.

Conley, who is under the name of Frank Wilson, is charged with the murder of Patrolman Edward Kelly of Allegheny, who was killed in a fight with a gang of robbers in 1913.

DISCUSS GENERAL STRIKE

A meeting of the members of the Amalgamation Association of street and Electric Railway Employes of America was held today at No. 174 Washington street, at which the Worcester strike was discussed.

Plans for more was proposed, and the question of declaring a general strike if some agreement was not reached was discussed. The vote on the question will be announced tonight.

The Worcester strikers maintain that the company has refused to submit the matter to arbitration in the discharge of Conductor Martin for failing to collect a nickel, while the Bay State Street Railway officials are equally positive that Martin's entire record is going into.

The situation at Woburn remained unchanged today. The fifteen cars operated on a meeting business and the Boston & Maine trains were jammed, standing room being at a premium. A roll-call meeting of strikers was scheduled for 2:30 this afternoon, following the Boston meeting.

DUXBURY MAN KILLS BABY GIRL AND SELF

DUXBURY, April 3.—Because his wife, from whom he had been separated, had refused to live with him, James H. Willis, forty-five, an expressman employed in Whitman, carried his daughter, Vivian, three, into the brush back of his father-in-law's home here, shot her through the head and then took poison.

The two were found dead, lying side by side, by those in search of the child's hat and clothing that her father had attempted to give her poison before he shot her.

BOY THROWN FROM HORSE; TRAMPLED ON

John H. Hughes (thirteen), of No. 42 Calvin street, East Boston, is at the East Boston Relief Hospital in a serious condition as the result of injuries received today when a runaway horse he was driving threw him to the ground and trampled on him.

The boy, a pupil at the Chapman School, secured permission of the transfer, Christopher Mangiaracina, to drive one of the Ann Incarnata Parcels Company horses. Mangiaracina started young Hughes in the front seat of the wagon, and, it is alleged, threw the boy to the ground.

WAITE ADMITS HE HAD ALSO PLANNED TO KILL HIS WIFE

from the words of his demoralized client and calmly then

According to Mr. Deuel, Waite said:

"I'm tired of all this utter and pretense. The motive is over the bitter. I have nothing to hide. I'm not afraid to die. I've played the game and lost. I'm through.

I'm not insane. That's all bosh, you know. I wanted to live luxuriously. I wanted money—lots of it. I wanted it so much that I took this chance. I'd rather be dead than live the life of a pauper.

I have already confessed that I killed Mr. and Mrs. John F. Peck. Well, I'll go further now. I intended killing my wife, poor little thing, but help me. I'm sorry for that little girl back in Grand Rapids.

Now I want to atone. I am willing to die like any murderer should and I'm ready to face my Creator and take my punishment.

Waite, furious and apparently ready to quit all bluff, turned a little white and set his face was close to the cell. "Two unfortunate children are in their schoolville frenzy, were being shoved past the door of my room to a certain fate. I'll give away, a little band of volunteers from whom I have hidden my plans.

"I love to tell the story

Over common things above."

—What a fool! What a fool I have been, groaned the man on the cot. "I was more than a fool. But I am ready to die now. I can take me any time now. I hope they will not prolong it.

Waite, still under the late, dead and guilty." But that is a mere formality. No man was pilloried" to a charge of murder in the first degree.

Waite's present idea is to write himself his own story. He is spending hours writing. His attorneys do not altogether relished with his contemplated work, but he is the boss of the situation. He has not asked about Mrs. Barton, his alleged mate. His attorneys say that he has not uttered the woman's name.

Undaunted by her futile attempts to see Waite, Mrs. Barton left Washington last night for Boston. Waite, at Bellevue, Mrs. Barton said, is to speak with her. She will remain there when he is arraigned. This announcement was made by Mr. Hoffman's counsel.

Mrs. Barton feels that an injustice has been done her by charging her in accordance with the law. She has been said. "She believes that it is her right to see and talk with Waite, and will not rest until she has accomplished her purpose.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions, instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists, we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Advertisement.

MARGERY MAUDE, daughter of Cyril Maude of "Grumpy" fame. Margery is leading woman with George Arliss in "Paganini."

It is said of Miss Margery Maude, leading woman to George Arliss in "Paganini." that she "follows her mother," the beautiful and talented Winifred Emery, one of the most loved women on the English stage.

It is true enough that Miss Maude "follows" her mother in attractiveness in charm and, especially, in sweetness of voice; but also it is true that, geographically speaking, Miss Maude follows her father, Cyril Maude of "Grumpy" fame, for the engagement of Mr. Maude at the Hollis is to be succeeded by that of Mr. Arliss in the new Knickbocker success.

Incidentally, next Sunday will be a red letter day for Mr. Maude and his talented daughter for although the Hollis company has been playing practically the same bill for the past month over the United States and Canada for several months this is the first time that Mr. Maude will have met in a long time.

Week after week Miss Maude was found in her dressing rooms at the various theatres in Boston before a photograph there, a cablegram scribbled in white chalk on a dressing room mirror or a penciled word of affection on the accumulated mail in the box office all directed by "Grumpy" to his "little leading lady."

Miss Maude made her first stage appearance in 1910 at her father's theatre, the Playhouse, in London, in "The Toymaker of Nuremberg." A few months later she played an ideal Cinderella part when Sir Herbert Tree revived "A Midsummer Night's Dream" one of the delights of the performance was the border of Miss Maude.

She gained further excellent experience as Lucius in "Julius Caesar" and Nerissa in "The Merchant of Venice" and in the plays brought out by her father during the past three seasons.

GOVERNOR ATTENDS HOPEWELL FUNERAL

Governor McCall attended the funeral today of John Hopewell, a Boston well man, who died in a Washington hotel after a long illness from a few weeks' pleasure trip in Georgia. The services took place at the home, No. 73 Waverley avenue, Newton. Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of the Eliot Church, Newton, officiated, assisted by Rev. George W. Hickcoll of Cambridge. Burial was at Mt. Auburn Cemetery.

Save Negro from Lynchers.

Petersburg, Va., April 3.—John Williams, colored, who confessed to attacking a young white girl, will be taken to Richmond for safe keeping. A crowd of would-be lynchers which surrounded the jail last night was thoroughly dispersed by the police today.

SCORE FIREMEN IN LOWELL DROWNING

Lowell, April 3.—Two drownings were reported to the police today, and in connection with one of them a complaint against the Fire Department was lodged with the Mayor.

At 2 o'clock this morning Thomas F. Daly discovered Richard H. Boulester of Chelmsford street hanging to a lock in the Merrimack Canal and calling for help. Daly got a rope, but could not reach the man. Patrolman Crow arrived, and they found themselves still unable to get at him. They rang a fire alarm, but before the apparatus arrived Boulester fell from the lock and sank.

Harold W. J. Howe of the Waterway Protection Committee, reported to Mayor James E. O'Donnell that Chief Edward Saunders and other firemen roundly rated Daily and Crow for calling them out of bed at that hour in the morning, and that the firemen asserted their business was not to drag canals for canals.

The other person drowned was four-year-old Edward F. O'Toole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. O'Toole of Maxwell street. His father gave him a cent yesterday and going to buy candy, he failed to return. His playmate, Morris Sheehan, told Mr. O'Toole today that he saw the little boy fall into the Concord River yesterday afternoon.

JAIL VAN CASES IN PROVIDENCE COURT

Providence, April 3.—Three of the six prisoners indicted for assault with intent to kill Deputy Sheriff Ralph Tillinghast when they with others escaped from the prison van, pleaded guilty today in court. They were Joseph R. Leonard, Albert Folan and Wilfred E. Charpentier. The case of the other three, Edward H. Mann, said to be the ringleader, Thomas J. Allen and George H. Maher, went on trial.

PULLS OUT PHONE AND IS TAXED $10

Because William J. Connolly could not get a telephone call quick enough to suit him Saturday, it is alleged that he broke a box from its fastenings and did other injury to the booth. In the South Boston Court today he was fined $10.

FREIGHTER PICKS UP VESSEL CREW

New York, April 3.—A wireless message from the master of the British freighter Pinemore today stated that the vessel had picked up the crew of the British schooner Annie E. Lordey, going from Newfoundland to Gibraltar, but the nature of the accident to the freighter was not given.

10,000 IN NEW YORK SUBWAY STRIKE

New York, April 3.—Ten thousand laborers in the new subway struck today for an increase of wages. The leaders also demand that the union, which is less than a year old, be recognized. The strikers are mostly Austro-Hungarians and their helpers.

MURPHY CALLS FINANCE BOARD 'INACCURATE'

Commissioner of Public Works Edward F. Murphy today issued a statement, taking exception to the report of the Finance Commission on Mayor Curley's street repair bill, now before the Legislature, calling it "inaccurate and misleading."

Commissioner Murphy said:

"The report of the Finance Commission to the Legislature, condemning the street repair bill, is inaccurate and misleading. The report says that $500,000 a year, in addition to the regular paving appropriation, is all that could be spent economically in the next five years. That means $2,500,000 is the limit of the amount that could be wisely used.

"This is absolutely wrong. It will take at least $1,000,000 a year for the next five years to put the streets in proper condition, and it cannot be done for a dollar less.

"As for the planning and supervising forces not being sufficient, that is a queer statement coming from the Finance Commission. When it suits their purpose they say we have too many engineers and inspectors, but when they want to defeat the Mayor's plans for repair bill they say we have not enough.

"Records show that under the administration of former Mayor Thomas N. Hart there was expended in one year for street construction work in excess of one million dollars, and the inspection force at that time was no larger than it is at the present time.

"If the Legislature will furnish the money we will guarantee to give Boston streets equal to those to be found in any city of the world."

2,000 PERSONS AT O'CONNOR FUNERAL

The funeral of Dr. Thomas H. O'Connor of No. 1156 Tremont street, Roxbury, at the Mission Church today, was attended by 2,000 persons. Delegations were present from the Boston Board of Health, for which Dr. O'Connor had been a medical inspector; Catholic Union, St. Alphonsus Association, Knights of Equity, Boston Lodge of Elks, Sons of Veterans, Massachusetts Medical Society, Charitable Irish Society and Roxbury Crossing police station.

Solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. John Lynch, C. SS. R., with Rev. James Clark, C. SS. R., as deacon, Thomas Gilhooly, C. SS. R., subdeacon, and Rev. John Shyne, C. SS. R., master of ceremonies. Bishop Walsh of Portland, cousin of Dr. O'Connor, was in the sanctuary.

BAKER'S ISLAND CASE A TRESPASS

The breaking and entering charge against Howard L. Foster, Ernest Osburg of Beverly, who were arrested by Eliot C. Hadley, keeper of the light on Baker's Island, Salem Harbor, today changed from burglary to trespass, and they were discharged after paying $64 each, costs of court. Hadley believed the men had broken into the Wadsworth cottage on the island, whereas they were merely looking for a friend, according to testimony.

SAN ANTONIO BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS

San Antonio, April 3.—The West Texas Bank and Trust Company, one of the largest financial institutions in the city, was closed today by the State Bank Commissioners. Although no statement has been issued, it is understood that the amount involved is about $250,000. All unsecured depositors will be paid out of the State guaranty fund.

NORTH DAKOTA LARD LAW IS UPHELD

Washington, April 3.—The provision of North Dakota's pure weight pure food law, which specifies that lard must be sold in one, three or five-pound packages and must bear a special label, was held constitutional by the Supreme Court today. The validity of the law was challenged by Armour & Co.

GRIEVING FOR WIFE, ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

SCORES ENTER BETTER BABY CONTEST

The Better Babies contest is piling up in its proportions until the Baby Editor is almost overwhelmed, but not discouraged.

Let them come, all kinds. The more the better we shall like it.

The greatest regret, to date, the Baby Editor has is that he is not allowed to print the pictures of all the wonderful children which come to him.

Photographers are without doubt trying their best to put forth the babies in the best possible light. Every one looks like a prize winner, and every mother writes that her baby is "perfect." What would matters be worth if they did not take that view of their babies, especially their "first?"

MOTHER PROUD OF ENTRY.

A mother came into the office today to tell about her baby and enter it in the contest. She was she talked about that baby. She would have thought it was the only one she ever had. As it turned out, such was the case.

"I think my baby is without doubt the brightest baby I ever saw," said the proud mother; and that she meant every word, every could tell by the way she spoke and looked. She was quite determined that the baby editor should be shown to her town and see that baby.

EXPERT WILL HELP.

"Is isn't a year old yet and you should hear it talk," she went on.

"Can you believe it, my baby says the whole alphabet. She understands most everything that is said to her."

The mother then walked away from the office. Twenty minutes after Every one looks like a prize winner, every mother writes that her baby is "perfect." What would matters be worth if they did not take that view of their babies, especially their "first?"

Every one looks like a prize winner, each mother is certain of her baby, which she feels perfectly entitled to the first prize. Every one looks like a prize winner, each mother is certain of her baby, which she feels perfectly entitled to the first prize.

Of course, some mothers are doomed to disappointment. That is not your case, though, dear mothers. Your baby is the best ever, and ostensibly quite all right. If there happen to be any babies which have not yet attained perfection, there is time for improvement. The time for judging will not arrive until May 6.

Mothers whose babies are not as well as they should be, according to instructions to Dr. Mary Moore who, through the columns of the AMERICAN, will answer all health questions, she will tell how to bathe, how and what to feed, when to put to sleep, how to discipline, etc.

Remember, only measurements made on the registration blanks, printed every day, will satisfy the editor. Do not fail in this and make your measurements carefully.

Exceptional prizes are offered by the AMERICAN in the form of gold, silver and bronze medals.

AUTO AND HYDRANT START FINE GEYSER

An automobile driven by Frank G. Caverly, rounding from Morton street into Wellington Hill street, Jamaica Plain, today, swerved to avoid a team and side-swiped a hydrant. The hydrant was decapitated, and the water rushed forth with great fluency, producing a geyser effect that would have delighted a moving picture man, superintendent Timothy Casey of the Water Department, turned off the water and spoiled the show. The automobile was not seriously damaged.

CONTINUED HEARING IN CAR DEATH CASE

Hearing on request for a manslaughter warrant for Motorman Arthur E. Cantingham of Lexington street, East Boston, whose car crushed to death seven-year-old Pasquale Rosani, No. 1 Loveland place, East Boston, was today continued until April 10, bail remaining at $2,500. The boy was killed while playing across Gardner street to get a penny held out by his mother.

QUINCY GIRL IS HURT BY MACHINE

Catherine Casna, a twenty-year-old Quincy girl, employed in the Bay State Wet Wash Laundry near her home, was painfully injured today when her hand became caught in the machinery she was operating. Her fingers and hand were crushed.

FEAR ATTEMPT TO RESCUE SPY

New York, April 3.—Forty special guards were on guard at the Raymond street jail, Brooklyn, Saturday and last night, as the result of a rumor that an effort would be made to release Ignatius T. Lincoln, a German spy.

BRANDEIS HAS DEFIED ETHICS, SAY FOES

By International News Service.

Washington, April 3.—That the suspicion upon Louis D. Brandeis' character will destroy his usefulness as a Supreme Court justice was the gist of the minority views of the Senate Judiciary Sub-committee presented to the whole committee today in explanation of its vote Saturday against Brandeis' confirmation.

Summarized, the objection of Senators Cummins and Works, Republicans, constituting the minority, were:

That he has defied the plain ethics of his profession; that he has resorted to concealment and deception; that he has not the judicial temperament, that he has lost the confidence of such a large element of the legal profession as to make him an undesirable member of the Supreme Court.

Senators Chilton, chairman of the sub-committee, and Walsh, both Democrats, submitted conclusions declaring that the investigation clearly proved Brandeis' fitness for the Supreme Bench.

The committee adjourned until next Monday without action.

The judiciary committee is composed of ten Democrats and eight Republicans.

GOVERNOR FIRM TO END DEATH PENALTY

Governor McCall declared today that he would insist upon legislation for the abolition of capital punishment. By this statement, the Governor made it plain that he would stand for no compromise.

"Are you going to insist on the abolition of capital punishment or will you favor legislation that would give a jury the right to recommend for or against capital punishment?" Governor McCall was asked.

"My message to the Legislature was plain enough," replied the Governor. "I recommended the abolition of capital punishment."

NEW AIDE BEGINS NAVY YARD DUTIES

Lieutenant John C. Hilliard, U. S. N., reported at his duties as aide to Commandant William R. Rush at the Charlestown Navy Yard. He succeeds Lieutenant Walter K. Kilpatrick, who has been ordered to be fleet engineer officer aboard the United States cruiser Ozarra, now at Hampton Roads. Lieutenant Hilliard was formerly on the U. S. S. Saratoga, flagship of the Asiatic fleet.

CANCELLATION OF RATES UPHELD

Washington, April 3.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today declined to modify its decision in which it justified the proposed cancellation of ocean-and-rail class and commodity rates from New England points, Eastern seaboard cities and interior points to Charleston, S. C., to Charlotte, N. C., and other Carolina points.

18 HURT IN GAS TANK EXPLOSION

Buffalo, N. Y., April 3.—Eighteen men were injured, three of them perhaps fatally, when a large gas tank exploded today in the foundry shop of the Otis Elevator Company. The property loss was $50,000.

CUT THIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES.

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires a constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear and it is frequently causes fatal deafness, or else the disease is driven down into the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following prescription is a blood builder, clogged nostrils should open breathing and hearing be restored, the mucous inflammation is reduced and the whole system toned up. The ingredients used in this way as it acts through the blood and nerve centers of the system and has a wright tonic effect that helps in the recovery of the patient. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial.—Advertisement.

SCALE COVERED DAUGHTER'S FACE

And Head. Thought She Would Lose Eyesight. Itched Continually. Disfigured Terribly.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"When my daughter was four weeks old, she had a dreadful scale which covered her face and head, and we thought for a time she would lose her eyesight. At first the skin was inflamed, and it itched continually and she could not sleep day or night. At last little red pimples with festered heads appeared and where the pimples had been, these would appear a horrid scale. It disfigured her terribly.

"Then I thought I would try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After the third application we could see a marked improvement, and in a short time she was healed." (signed) Mrs. Geo. Haddock, New Canaan, Conn., July 24, 1915.

EIGHT GUILTY IN SHOPLIFTING HARVEST

Six women and two men were found guilty in Municipal Court today on shoplifting charges. They were arrested in the shopping district by Inspectors Loughlin and Pelton.

Samuel Dreiblath and Morris Dunent were sentenced to three months in the House of Correction for the larceny of three silk waists. Alice Woods was arrested with them. Her case was filed so that she might be turned over to the New York police who want her for shoplifting.

Mrs. Florence Charlton of Johnson street, Saugus, was given a three-months' suspended sentence. She was charged with the larceny of four dresses, seven pairs of shoes, two pairs of rubbers, one skirt and a waist.

Mrs. Charlton, according to the police, filled a box with stolen property and carried other stolen goods under her arms. Mrs. Charlton told Judge Brackett that she stole to fit out her four children for the Spring.

Catherine Alibrandi of Langdon street, Roxbury, testified that she saw other women picking things from the floor of a department store and so picked up a waist and a pair of stockings. She was found guilty and placed on probation.

Leah Shapiro of Charles street, West End, was also placed on probation. Pauline L. Aiman was found guilty of the larceny of a waist and fined $15. Alice Dinsmore of Porter road, Cambridge, was placed on probation.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested food, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At the drug stores, 25c per box. All druggists.

EGYPTIENNE STRAIGHTS

Cork Tips
Plain Ends
CIGARETTES

More Sledgehammer Blows to Establish the Law of Truth in Your Mind, Mr. Smoker:

A FEW DAYS ago we told you how Factory Manager Vale of the EGYPTIENNE STRAIGHTS factory in New York City made affidavit that none but the purest Turkish tobacco entered the STRAIGHTS factory—how Receiving Clerk Boyd of that factory swore that he had never seen any but pure Turkish tobacco bearing the original Turkish markings, and coming from bonded warehouses, enter the STRAIGHTS factory. We told you about the statement that Vice-President O'Brien addressed to the Smoking Public expressing such faith in the purity and goodness of STRAIGHTS that he was certain of their popularity with all who tried them. Copies of the original documents were presented in that advertisement for your inspection.

¶ Please look at the pictures in this advertisement very carefully. They are well worth your attention. Three were photographed especially to prove to the cigarette smokers of America the care used ten thousand miles away from where STRAIGHTS are made in the initial operation, namely, the gathering of the finest Turkish leaf.

¶ The American Tobacco Company maintains offices and warehouses throughout the tobacco districts in Turkey, under the direction and supervision of resident buyers for the company. They get nothing but the best, because the farmers have confidence and faith in these buyers, whom they have known intimately for years, as well as the great company they represent.

¶ A great many cigarette manufacturers buy their tobaccos from importers in New York City, but The American Tobacco Company, with its exceptional organization and enormous resources, goes further than these other concerns.

¶ First, by having in the organization resident buyers in Turkey; secondly by having them on the ground constantly, ready to take advantage of every situation in the crop that may arise, and, thirdly—Mr. Charles Skinner.

¶ Have you ever heard of Mr. Charles Skinner? Probably not, and yet if you are a cigarette smoker, he has played a most important part in your joy of living. He is the Supreme Court sitting in judgment on all the Turkish Tobacco purchased by The American Tobacco Company. Quiet, unassuming, never attracting attention to himself, his opinion is the most prized in the world on Turkish leaf. Tobacco passing every other inspection, merely at a glance, will be rejected by him for Straights.

¶ He is a busy bee—now in Turkey, travelling throughout the tobacco districts of Serres, Mahala, Zighlina, Drama, Provista, Smyrna, Cavalla and Edirnidjik looking at the crops and making his purchases in the field and now in America in the Straights factory. Here very often you will see him on the seventh floor looking at a bale of tobacco as shown in one of the above pictures. When the bale is opened his practiced eyes detect instantly if it has suffered water damage on the trip across, knowing if the leaves are too dark it will smoke too heavy, and must not be used in Straights. No other concern in America can boast of an asset like Charles Skinner.

¶ In our next statement concerning EGYPTIENNE STRAIGHTS we are going to acquaint you more fully with the wonderful STRAIGHTS factory and the man who is responsible for its marvelously efficient management. The invitation to visit the STRAIGHTS factory we will dwell upon more fully. We insist upon your coming and seeing for yourselves, thus hoping to impress you to the fullest extent with the purity and excellence of STRAIGHTS and their manufacture.

¶ Remember—we want everybody who can to visit the Straights factory, 337-347 West 27th Street, New York City. Your name and address on a postal will bring the card of invitation at once.

Rainy Day at Memphis Lewis Ready to Get in

By HERMAN NICKERSON.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 3. There seems to be a jinx chasing the World's Champions on the Sunday game proposition. The world-beaters have been obliged to cancel two so far on the trip, the one with the Pirates at Hot Springs and the one which was to have been played here yesterday with the "Chicks."

A heavy rain and rising water, which backed up into the "turtleback" ball yard, putting two inches of the wet stuff over the playing field, make it look very bad for the chance of a game today.

It was too disagreeable for even the golf players to take a chance, so it may be seen that a day put in about a hotel was a pretty dreary period. The boys are, however, figuring they are one day's rest the nearer home and the opening, and have taken heart, now they know that Jinx Jofis the Cast have nothing to do with the snow and ice.

It looked for a time from the side-lines at which we viewed it that the players were to have a chance at shoveling when they struck Penn way Park.

The team is fit and ready, and even though it may get some cool weather during its first few games in the 1910 schedule, it has been seasoned and looks to be able to give a fine exhibition, if it doesn't freeze. The jump from here to Baltimore and Brooklyn will help some in this particular.

On the showing so far the pitching staff is fine for the season, and they have an elevated pitching stick and Saturday it bothered both Foster and Gregg, they having difficulty keeping the ball down. This coupled with Chalk Boyle's peddling of balls was slightly hard to figured.

Manager Carrigan is satisfied with the condition of his team and they have all the confidence in the world that they can go out and repeat their performance of last season. By this I do not mean to imply that they have any swelled-headed notions, they just possess the kind of spirit that makes a good ball club better than the rest.

CONFIDENCE IN BANKS.

The players have not counted next Fall's World's Series money, nor do they talk it. During the three weeks' training the nearest approach to any excitement was when Trig Speaker appeared. Then the boys began to feel that they were really set for a stand-pat repeat.

The regular trio of outfielders, Speaker, Hooper and Lewis, than whom there is none better, has not worked together as an entire this spring owing to the Alameda kid's injury. Duffy's thumb is rapidly mending, however, and he will surely get into the Brooklyn series. He intends to work out in Baltimore if the conditions here continue unfavorable.

Manager Carrigan has a comforting thought in the possession of three men any one can fill in in the outfield very nicely, in Henriksen, Shorten and Gainer. The latter is still nursing but is expected at Baltimore or Brooklyn.

Shorten has pulled two sensational catches on the training trip so far and looks as if he might be a good hitter.

The program for yesterday, had it been such as would permit baseball, was to have seen Leonard, Mays and Hall work three innings each. By pitching several men it must not be taken that the umpires are not ready to go the distance, for they are all strong enough and appear to have plenty of "stuff."

Manager Carrigan will use Shore and Hall against Baltimore Wednesday, which looks as if it meant warming up Foster and Mays for the opening of the regular season. The boys are there with all the assortment, control and speed.

GIVES A GLOWING TESTIMONIAL NOW

Mrs. Mary Fahey of 736 Harrison Ave. Says Plant Juice Has Cured Her.

The royal road to success is health. It is the joy of living that enables men and women to overcome all obstacles and to add to the glory that crowns themselves that refuses to recognize failure. Get health. Said another:

MRS. MARY FAHEY

who goes through life with the added burden of weak, spindling nerves, poisoned brain, caused from a deranged stomach, almost constant failure to digest food.

Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, will set you to rights. It will impart fresh vigor to your mind and body, by putting the stomach in perfect condition, thereby causing the food to digest and assimilate properly, acting on the liver and kidneys, purifying the blood and correcting constipation. That Plant Juice is doing all this and more, the following testimonial evidence is given in the form of the signed testimonial of Mrs. Mary Fahey, who lives at No. 736 Harrison Avenue and has many friends in this city. She said:

"I have suffered from indigestion and dyspepsia for the past four years, in fact everything that I ate fermented in my stomach and caused gas to form, and I suffered agony after eating and dreaded to sit down to my meals. I had heartburn, headaches and a hard lump in the pit of my stomach. My liver was torpid and sluggish, which made me very dizzy at times. I was so nervous I could not sleep at night and felt all tired out in the morning. My stomach became so weak that I had to live on soft food. I had dizzy spells and my back and my complexion became very yellow and pimpled. After taking three bottles of your Plant Juice I am feeling like a new woman and am glad to state publicly that Plant Juice has cured me of all my troubles. I cannot speak too highly of Plant Juice and am giving it to my children.

The Plant Juice Man is at the Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton Co.'s store, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

Tufts' New Star Has Crowded Howard Drew

Candidates for Tufts' track team start their spring training on the college oval today. The prospects for one of the strongest teams in the college's history are bright and, with the addition of several fast sophomore stars, Tufts hopes to clean up at the big meets.

The strongest competition, which the team is expected to stack up against, will be Holy Cross. The customary dual meet with Rhode Island State and the Massachusetts "Aggies" are also on the list.

Last season Tufts was victorious over both schools and believes it can repeat.

Tufts lost five letter men by graduation, that is, Captain Duke, Newton, Hadley, Rosenman and Cox. Still, the acquisition of Kimball, the former Arlington High miler; Hudson of Auburn, N. Y., who crowded Howard Drew at several of the Big Winter meets in New York; Beacham, a football player who is also expected in the weight events; Shepard of Lynn, English, a clever century man, and Hopkins, whose specialties are the broad and high jumps, help to offset the differences in the loss of the veteran athletes.

The candidates for the team consist of Captain Speike Thorndike, weight events; Lee and "Spike" Tyler, hurdles; Donahigan, dashes; Miller, pole vault and field events, and McClellan, dashes and quarter mile.

BIG PIN TOURNEY OPENS AT CAPITAL

Washington, April 3.—The second annual tournament of the Atlantic Coast Bowling Association commences tonight on a set of new alleys constructed in the Knickerbocker Building, the scene of last Summer's C. A. U. reunion. Only local and suburban bowlers are scheduled to roll tonight.

SLOSSON VS. YOUNG JAKE.

George Slosson, the veteran ballplayer star, now the City Club's professional, meets "Young Jake" Schaefer, son of the world's original Wizard, in a 400-point match, at the City Club, Wednesday night. The game will be put on in the auditorium, the steam of the billiard room, so as to allow ample accommodations for the large crowd expected.

TRAINING CAMP NEWS

Baltimore, Md., April 3.—The Dodgers took to Oriole again today and expect to land the Baltimore team's batting. After the game Bobby's men will be packed off to Hot Springs, Ark., where the Yankees on Ebbets field tomorrow.

Baton Rouge, La., April 3.—Losing the last game of the Tigers, the visiting team will play a college team before going north tomorrow.

Wheeling, W. Va., April 3.—Proved over their defeat by the Reds yesterday, the first game of the regular season, the Yankees dressed off here today for a game with the Wheeling club. The team will be back home tomorrow.

Washington, April 3.—Entering the last day of their training season today, Clark Griffith's Nationals found their morning workouts interfered with by rain and streak possibilities that it might be a couple of days before real play could be resumed. The Boston Nationals are scheduled for games Wednesday and Thursday.

New Orleans, La., April 3.—Mike Donlin left today for Pine Bluff to join the Cubs' training camp and take part in matters for the regulars will be filled by Eddie Mulligan, a recruit, who has shown unexpected class.

St. Louis, April 3.—The St. Louis American Association game scheduled for today (yesterday on account of rain, will be played Wednesday.

Oklahoma City, April 3.—White Sox regulars were scheduled to play here today against the Oklahoma City team, while the Sox Yannigans tackled the University of Oklahoma.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 3.—The Pirates broke camp today, one squad going to Little Rock for an exhibition game, while the remainder went on to Memphis, their first stopping place on the way North.

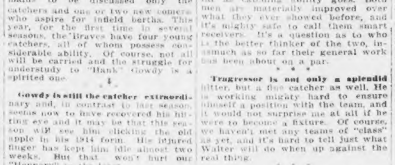
OLDEST BRAND IN AMERICA

SPOTTED SHIRT A DOLLAR SO. TROY, N. Y.



Rocky Mount, N. C., April 3.

HAVING disposed of the bulk of the infielders, outfielders and pitchers already in the AMERICAN, there remains to be discussed only the catchers and one or two new comers who aspire for infield berths. This year, for the first time in several seasons, the Braves have four young catchers, all of whom possess considerable ability. Of course, not all will be carried and the struggle for understudy to "Hank" Gowdy is a spirited one.

* * *

Gowdy is still the catcher extraordinary and, in contrast to his season, seems now to have recovered his hitting eye and it may be that this season will see him clicking the old apple in his 1914 form. He injured finger has kept him idle almost two weeks. But that won't hurt our "Henbery" in the least.

* * *

Prior to being injured Gowdy was wielding every club and appeared to be in the best of shape. He chased after and caught several high fouls in a far better manner than ever before. His hitting was good and we all regret exceedingly the fact that injuries necessitated his being idle for so long a spell. He managed to get in plenty of good practice at ticket selling, however, and this Summer can work at that task if injured, instead of making the long jump to Columbus.

As between Tragressor and Blackburn there is but little to choose, so far as catching ability goes. Both men are materially improved over what they ever showed before, and it's safely safe to call them smart receivers. It's a question as to who is the better thinker of the two, inasmuch as so far their general work has been about on a par.

* * *

Tragressor is not only a splendid hitter, but a fine catcher as well. He is working mighty hard to ensure himself a berth with the team, and it would not surprise me at all if he were to become a fixture. Of course, we haven't met any teams of "class" as yet, and it's hard to tell just what Tragressor will do when up against the real thing.

* * *

Tragressor worked in the Athletics' series, as did Blackburn, and in those games Walter looked very good. As a hitter and backstop, he is fully as good as any young catcher in the old league. Whether or not he has the necessary amount of judgment is a question to be decided.

* * *

Blackburn is a fine catcher and a good hitter as well, though he falls a trifle short of Tragressor with the bat.

Soccer Shots.

THE recent thaw cleared the snow and ice off many soccer fields, and made it possible for several clubs to stage their various postponed games on Saturday.

* * *

THE stellar attraction was the game between New Bedford and Fall River Rovers in the fourth round of the National Cup Series. That the game was closely contested, the 2,500 fans that paid to see the game will testify, as after two hours of play the game ended with one goal each.

* * *

JACKEY TAYLOR and Captain Swords were the soccers for their respective teams, the former's goal being almost a superhuman effort that saved the game for his club. He got a great hand for the accomplishment.

* * *

OWING to the tie of the Rovers-New Bedford game the fans of the mill city will have the chance go Saturday of witnessing the fourth round game previously denied them as the result of the draw, and it is expected that over 4,000 "fans" will be present.

* * *

IT is the consensus of opinion that the Rovers played all they knew and that the New Bedford players had a lot in reserve making the latter favorites in the replay. But at home the Rovers are a hard lot to beat, inasmuch as they have not suffered a defeat there this season.

* * *

MANAGER GIBSON of the St. George's does not intend to ask for a replay of Saturday's game against the Lynn Foxe, while having every reason to do so. Besides not having the time to get his players together the playing field was only partly roped off. If all managers take a chance as did he, and coming out on the losing end, will act accordingly, there would be fewer protests and better feeling all around.

HARVARD TEAMS START.

Harvard's soccer and lacrosse teams, which reported for duty a week ago, begin their outdoor training on Soldier's Field this afternoon.

NEW YORK RING TALK

NEW YORK, April 3.—Four featherweights perform at the Stadium A. C. this evening. "Patsy" Cline tackles Johnny Drummond, while Frankie Fleming will oppose Young Hector.

JOHNNY HARVEY, the Harlem lightweight, and Frankie Callahan of Brooklyn, meet in a twelve round session at Columbus, O., tonight.

* * *

AL REICH is going to Lakewood or some other resort to get himself in shape for his bout with Fred Fulton April 24. If Reich beats Fulton he will be matched with Jim Coffey, Frank Moran and Jack Dillon in the order named—maybe.

* * *

EVERYTHING is in readiness for the heavyweight contest to be staged at the Broadway Sporting Club tomorrow night. The principals are Charley Weinert and Dan (Perky) Flynn. This will make the latter's third appearance in a local ring in ten days.

GANLEY STAYS AT U. B. C.

"Billy" Ganley, who plays Jock Soutar, the champion, in their playoff for the Canadian amateur championship in Philadelphia tomorrow, has entered a one-year contract to remain as the Union Boat Club's professional. Ganley is twenty-seven years old and has just completed his second year at the Union B. C.

BRAVES VS. FORDHAM.

New York, April 3.—The Boston Braves will play Fordham, on Fordham Field, April 11, the day before the National League season opens. "Dick" Rudolph was Fordham's star hurler in 1906.

B. C. HIGH NINE AT WORK.

Coach Tom McGhie of Boston College High will start outdoor work going with his baseball charges either this afternoon or tomorrow. The old Walpole street grounds will be the scene of the practice.

"CAL." DROPS TWO MORE.

Hot Springs, Ark., April 3.—Manager Callahan of the Pirates cut his squad to twenty-six by releasing Catcher Blackwell and Pitcher Douglas to the Wheeling (Central League) club.

Ainsmith Down to Be Bought by Braves

Washington, April 3.—Catcher Eddie Ainsmith of the Washington Club is slated to become "Hank" Gowdy's main aid on the Braves' catching staff. Scout Mike Kahoe is here and rumor has it strong he is trying to coax Ainsmith away from the Griffith clan.

The Braves play here this week, when it is expected Stallings will put in a cash bid for Ainsmith, as it is Kahoe's forecast a change of scenery will land "Noisy Eddie" back on his old stride.

In forty-seven games last Summer he only batted .209. On the defense Ainsmith finished second to Mayer, of the White Sox, youngster, in the catching table. His average was .988.

PRINCETON CREWS MAKE LATE START

Princeton, N. J., April 3.—Princeton's varsity and freshman crews have got a very late start for its coming races with Harvard, April 29, and Coach Spaeth will prove a wizard if he gets the two boats in such shape as to win from the Crimson. Captain R. A. Cochran '11, is stroking the varsity; J. D. Paull '11, is No. 7; P. H. Gadebusch '12, No. 6; C. J. Eggerstedt '11, No. 5; E. H. Lee '12, No. 4; J. R. L. Otis '12, No. 3; D. Dellenbaugh '11, No. 2, and A. V. Savage '12, bow.

ELLIS AND MAUPOME IN CUE TITLE CLASH

Pittsburgh, April 3.—Charles Ellis of this city will defend his recently acquired three-cornered billiard title this week. Pierre Maupome of St. Louis, a Mexican player of note who recently vanquished from the amateur ranks, will be Ellis' opponent. Both are former Interstate League stars. The match, a three nights' affair, gets under way at Harry Davis' tonight and will be for $250 a side, a $500 purse and the championship emblem.

HEALTH HINTS

Tired, Aching Feet.

In many thousands of homes Minard's liniment is used often as a sure, quick, effective remedy for sore, tired, aching feet. It is very reliable, brings instant relief and helps the blood circulate, so quickly drives away pain. It cannot burn or blister and does not stain skin or clothing. It is a dependable, creamy liniment for many uses in the home and is sold by druggists everywhere.—Advertisement.

Braves Headed North Mack Refuses Series

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., April 3.—After having spent a pleasant Sunday aboard a rattler, the Braves rolled into this bustling community early today. Business Manager Hapgood took turns raving and ranting over the announcement by one C. Mack to the effect that the Braves and Athletics would not play a series next Spring.

The Braves should worry over the fact, for, as far as real practice is concerned, the Athletics "cannot give it to the President," as one might say. Hapgood spent the afternoon reading Aesop's Fables to Sherwood Magee. Before the dinner hour arrived Florida was left in the distance.

Three weeks were spent 'neath Florida's smiling skies and a world of good has been done the budding champions. The weather at Miami and Jacksonville was tempestuously fine, but only bull cloth has been encountered in Southland.

"President" Hapgood was more or less displeased over the refusal of Manager Mack to arrange a series for next Spring. Apparently the Macks are to be content with such games as the Jacksonville schools can provide.

Tonight we go from here to Richmond, Va., where one game is scheduled. Then the club marches on to Washington, with "Colonel" Stallings in front and before another Sunday arrives we will be well on our way to Boston, the capital of the world.

NOTES OF THE BRAVES.

"How are you hitting 'em, Pete?" queried a scribe after the last matinee at Miami. "Like a washwoman," was Compton's rejoinder, "right on a line." And they were on a line, too; a mighty long line.

Johnny Evers looks better this Spring than he has at any time since he entered the game. With 156 pounds Vance, of weight on his frame he really feels "heavy." Still, the extra beef should serve him in good stead.

Miami was the best training camp the Braves ever visited and it's a safe bet a majority of the squad are anxious to go down there again next Spring.

Jacksonville, with its three motion picture studios, proved interesting. The big plants were viewed and one or two films in the making were witnessed.

Dominick Mullaney, the giant umpire, whom Ban Johnson showed Bostonians last season, spent the Winter in Jacksonville and acted in several "movies."

WILLIAMS TO GO SOUTH.

Williamstown, April 3.—Williams begins its Southern trip to Charlottesville, Va., Thursday, Georgetown, Annapolis, Penn, Princeton and West Point will also be visited. Young, the mainstay of the club corps, will have charge of the team. With 156 pounds Vance,

AMATEUR BOXERS READY

National A. A. U. Tourney Gets Under Way Tonight—Enary List Is a Record-Breaker.

THIS country's, as well as Canada's, best amateur gloveswomen are in Boston for the annual National A. A. U. boxing championships. The gala two-night show in Mechanics Building opens tonight. The B. A. A. is staging the big performance, and, judging by the brilliant entry list, its success is assured.

Every Eastern city, as well as the bulk of the Middle West towns, dit to New Orleans, likewise Montreal and Toronto, over the border, is represented, with the Greater Boston and New England stars on hand with scarcely a miss.

The country's amateur championship in eight divisions will be settled. There is a field of thirteen starters in the 105-pound class, eighteen in the 115-pound class, twenty-one in the 125-pound class, twenty-one in the 135-pound class, twenty in the 145-pound class, seven in the 158-pound class, eight in the 175-pound class and six in the heavyweight class.

MANY VISITING CRACKS.

Aside from the Greater Boston entries, the stars of the visiting contingent in the 105-pound class embrace Ralph R. Smith, of Lowell; George Etcell, Union Settlement A. C., New York; "Jay" Wissel, Tremont Club, Providence, and Ed Williams, Riverside Club, Toronto.

The out-of-town contestants in the 115-pound division include C. E. Rodgers, Pittsburgh A. A.; Napoleon La Chance, Rumford, Me.; Hon Velger, Educational Alliance, New York; Joe Gans, the dusky Lynn boy, and Joe Chevalier, Montreal.

In the 125-pound class the visiting delegation embraces Julius Horgens, Rumford, Me.; D. Tropoli, Pittsburgh A. A.; William Morris, East Side House, New York; Frank Gallagher, Riverside Club, Toronto, and Joseph Nette, Detroit.

PENN'S ORIENTAL STAR.

The 135-pound class has six stylish visitors entered, including Don Low, the University of Pennsylvania's famous Chinaman. The youth from the Orient is reported to be a particularly fast and scientific wonder. The other out-of-town starters are Ray Pyral, Pittsburgh A. A.; Tommy Murphy, Kansas City A. C.; Arnold Schneider, Detroit A. C.; J. Sullivan, Union Settlement A. C., New York, and Ernest R. Poole, Rockport.

The out-of-town contingent in the 145-pound division includes Robert H. Gleason, Dominican Lyceum, New York; Harry Ruff and Frank Parfida, Rumford, Me.; Eugene Brosseau, Montreal; Elmer Laplanee, Detroit A. C.; F. Segura, Union Settlement A. C., New York; A. Colaizzi, Pittsburgh A. A.; Martin Burke, Catholic A. A., New Orleans; Percy Johnson, Riverside, Toronto; Roy Helton, Kansas City A. C., and M. Harris, Union Settlement A. C., New York.

Fred Mc Cleary, Rumford, Me., and Joe Sandroni, Catholic A. A., New Orleans, are the two visitors on deck for honors in the 158-pound class. Charley Shea, Pittsburgh A. A., Joe Burke, Riverside Club, Toronto, have been attracters for the title in the 175-pound class. Two of the four starters in the heavyweight division are visitors, George Hook, Pittsburgh A. A., and Joe Burke, Riverside, Toronto.

BUSINESS MEN TAKE LITTLE TRIP

To Florida, for three weeks, including meals, berth, hotel accommodations, for $45.90; Bermuda, all-expense tour, 10 days, for $41.50; other short first-class tours; give hours going one way, returning another, to Nassau, Cuba and Panama. "Big Money" saved on these and other attractive tours. Ask for BOSTMAN TOURS COMPANY booklet. Tickets and Tours Everywhere, 287 Washington St., Boston.

Official List of Entries in A. A. U. Boxing Tourney

THE entries for the two-nights' National A. A. U. boxing championships in Mechanics Building, the big show getting underway tonight, are unquestionably the best on record. New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Kansas City, New Orleans, Toronto and Montreal have their stars here for competition with the pick of the Greater Boston and New England flock.

M'GRATH DROPPED BY YALE, IS REPORT

New Haven, Ct., April 3.—Walter McGrath, Exeter's former crack guard, who has been mounted upon proving one of Captain Black's strongest linesmen here, fell so well did he disport himself on last year's freshman eleven, has been dropped as a student, it is reported on Yale campus. With the Spring practice about to begin, the loss of McGrath comes as a big blow to Head Coach Jones, under whom Walter played in his academy days.

O'DONNELL GIVEN A ROUSING WELCOME

Lafayette, Ind., April 3.—Cleo O'Donnell of Everett, Mass., Purdue's new football coach, was met by a big crowd upon his arrival here yesterday. He was carried down the platform on the shoulders of four big husky students and lifted to a baggage truck, where he acknowledged the ovation. O'Donnell will start the Spring football work going at once.

AMHERST NINE IN EASTON.

Easton, Pa., April 3.—Amherst's nine plays Lafayette here today.

Georgetown Star, a Boston Boy, Breaks Leg

Washington, April 3.—Georgetown's exhibition game against a local amateur team Saturday proved costly, for Second Baseman Johnny Maloney fractured his left leg while sliding into second base and will be lost to the nine during the season.

Maloney is also quarterback of the football eleven. His home is in Boston.

SUNDAY GAME IN G. N. Y.

New York, April 3.—The Bushwicks semi-pros defeated a team of Dodger veterans and recruits, 4-3, in ten innings. Nap Rucker and "Rube" Marquard each worked two innings, but took it easy.

RING REMARKS.

IF will be Al Shubert of New Bedford, and "Mickey" Brown of Malden, the best and second best New England bantams, on duty at the Hub Wednesday night.

BOXING fans want to pay heed to the change in dates. Tuesday night will be left open to the amateur biff boys, who render the National finals, with the Armory A. A. entertaining Wednesday night, instead of Tuesday night, per custom.

THOUGH Shubert has already slipped Brown a couple of trimmings, the New Bedford boy has always had "Mickey" doped a particularly tough little customer and is reported to be training faithfully for the scrap.

SHUBERT has long angled for a big, important Boston date. He has strong hopes of registering an emphatic victory over Brown, and then when the Atlas A. A. resumes operations at the Armory, secure a return date with Champion Johnny Ertle, whom he held to a dead-heat at New Bedford, Washington's Birthday.

SHUBERT shines his brightest when in against a fighting machine. He and "Kid" Williams, who was unfortunate enough to lose his crown to Kewpie Ertle on a foul, or Pete Herman, the rollicking New Orleans lightpounder, the only boy holding a decision over John Miller's charge, would afford the Arena a corking good show.

LIKEWISE would a return date with Ertle doubtless attract a gala house and Shubert could be relied upon shining; in fact, if the Western boy would elect to fight from every inch of the way, 'tis 7 to 5 of even money Al would acquire the title.

AS for the Shubert-Brown bout, it should be full of action and pleasa.

JOE CONNOLLY of Charlestown makes his bow as a professional in the semi-final. Al Tooley of Chelsea will be his foe. The two six-rounders will be pulled by Harry Champ, the Salem Chinaman, and "Battling" Peters and Tommy Stanton and Johnny Morris. The last named hails from Montreal.

EVIDENTLY Phil Powers (Young Donovan) is through at the Armory A. A. Today's press copy furnished the AMERICAN states: "Powers withdrawing down not mean anything to the directors, as they were of the opinion one man could handle the position and for a long time were considering the single-plan referee."

THE Triple-A. press agent adds that Marlitt Flaherty will probably run the entire bill Wednesday night and hints that the pudgy one will remain in office.

JOE McCARTHY has Johnny Wilson on with "Battling" McFarland at Thornton, R. I., Wednesday night. The promising Johnny Donovan boxes at the same show, meeting Tommy Boyle.

McCARTHY has also picked up Johnny Downs, the New England 125-pound amateur champion. He says Johnny will turn pro. at the Thornton show and will go pitted against Young Stone.

AGGRESSIVENESS PAYS—SOMETIMES.

He stood up and forced the battle.
But he felt a forceful rattle
On his strong and manly chin from left and right.
"Though they gave him the decision."
He remarked in deep derision.
"I deserved it—it was I who forced the fight!"

Said Napoleon, while retreating
From his last and lasting beating:
"It is news to me—in fact it isn't right.
Though they landed me a trimming,
That was sent my head swimming
I'm the winner—it was I who forced the fight!"

Said a nut: "You big fat cop, you!
I am sure about to drop you."
But immediately saw seven kinds of light.
When awakened in the station
He complained in great vexation:
"Why arrest me? It was I who forced the fight!"

Gameness must be admired in every phase of sport. But a man who forces a four flush against a full house seldom wins any medals—or any money.

One good thing about Jess Willard is that he returns to the ring long enough every Summer and refrains from butting in on the baseball schedule.

The report that Willard rides a horse in the circus is a puzzle to us. How can he ride anything smaller than an elephant without letting his feet dangle on the ground?

Willard can be used in various capacities as a circus man. In case of an emergency he can be utilized as a centre pole.

"Is golf deadly?" asks an expert. Possibly not, but we are able to say from bitter experience that when a non-golfer at a social gathering finds himself between two golfers it is extremely painful.

Golf, we have been told, is a silent game, but not when you meet the golfers off the links.

NORTH AND SOUTH.

The Sox we read, are coming North
To chill their heated frames
Meanwhile, the Braves are going South
With all the practice games.

Speakers are not invincible. Joe Cannon got his once. This is getting us now.

Joe Cannon and Taft, in their respective times, were the loudest Speakers in the business. Now they scarcely speak above a whisper.

Soccer Star Is Set Down for the Season

Player Frodella of the Clonmel Rovers Football Club has been suspended for the balance of the season by the State Soccer Association for signing an amateur form without getting reinstated. Frodella previously played as a professional for New Bedford. The State Association at its meeting also reinstated George Lambie, the well-known referee, for a breach of rule enquiries after the General Electrics-New Bedford Cup Semi-Finals. Next Saturday's State cup round.

Cobb Stars, While Kauff Misjudges Two Spiral Raps

HOUSTON, Tex., April 3.—Hughie Jennings' Tigers played rings around the Giants, winning 9 to 3. Benton and Tesreau were wild and were hit to all corners of the lot.

Ty Cobb and Kauff had their first meeting and furnished the features, and Benny was silent as usual for the first time in many months.

Cobb drove out a double, scored two runs and stole two bases. Benny, who has been threatening to show his mettle, unloaded two duds, each of which went for a triple and made nine hits, a double, full circuit clout and stole a base.

"Kid" Elberfeld in a Mix-Up with Macks

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 3.—The Athletics boarded to beat the local Southern Association team, but they didn't when Manager "Kid" Elberfeld of the locals arrived in time to render a drew verdict in the first baseball rough and tumble of the year.

In the seventh inning Crane of the visitors was hit in the back by a pitched ball. He then had it Pitcher Martina, formerly of the Boston Red Sox.

The latter rushed for Crane, but Elberfeld, starting at the bench, made it a dead heat. He slid head first for Crane's jaw together. Both teams jumped in.

The fisticuffs appeared and stopped the melee.

The Struggles of a Wife

The Webbs Have a Party and Horace Grumbles Because He Has Not the Money for the Rent.

CHAPTER XV.

Copyright, 1911, 1912, Star Company.

THE two teachers whom Grace Webb invited home to supper on Sunday. The evening passed so pleasantly that toward the end of the week Grace suggested that Miss Perkins, the assistant school principal, be asked to come to dinner soon and bring her brother, a man of forty.

"I know you and father will like them both," the girl said. "I have met Mr. Perkins several times when he has come to the school to speak to his sister about some matter of business. He is homely, but has lots of sense."

Myra was somewhat appalled at the idea of entertaining guests to meals twice within a fortnight, but she offered no protest. This was the kind of thing she had wanted Grace to do; therefore she must put the thought of rigid economy aside on such occasions.

"Will next Thursday night do?" Grace was asking.

"Make it Wednesday, dear," Myra suggested. "Thursday is Lizzie's evening out next week."

Miss Perkins and her brother proved indeed to be delightful companions. Mr. Perkins was a teacher in one of the city colleges, and was, as Grace had already said, a man of culture and breeding. It did Myra's heart good to see how her husband inclined toward these guests. He was more talkative and cheerful than for many months. For his sake, as well as on Grace's account, they must entertain oftener.

A NEW EXPERIENCE

This thought was in her mind as she sank peacefully to sleep that night after their new acquaintances had departed. But two hours later she awoke with the new familiar qualm of fear at the thought that she was spending more than was right for living expenses.

She lay, trying not to worry, hour after hour, until in the dim light of the Winter morning a nearby clock boomed out seven. Could it be as late as that? How quiet the apartment was! It was past the time that Lizzie was usually up and busy in the kitchen. Springing from her bed, the mistress threw a wrapper about her and hurried to the maid's door.

Lizzie was still in bed, and eyed her mistress with stolid indifference.

"Sure it's sick I am this morrin'," she announced lugubriously. "I tried to get up and dress, but me head hurt me that bad I had to lie down again. You'll have to get the breakfast. Later, maybe, I'll be better."

There was no time to stand parleying, so telling the girl to try to sleep, the mistress dressed quickly, and after calling her husband and daughter, repaired to the kitchen, heated a dry cereal, made the coffee, toasted some bread and fried bacon and eggs.

All was ready by the time that Horace had taken his seat at the table and looked over the mail which his wife had laid by his plate five minutes ago.

She saw at a glance that his genial spirits of last night had given place to a taciturn mood, so, after explaining briefly that she was not now her own cook, she sat down. Grace had not come to breakfast yet.

A sigh from the man broke the silence. "Well! It will have to wait!" he exclaimed, as the result of his musings.

"What, dear?"

"The rent," he replied tersely. "I've just got a second reminder that it's overdue. I hoped to put it before now, but I had to meet my insurance, you know."

He paused. Yes, Myra knew that there had been the insurance, and she recalled with a throb of gratitude that she had returned the money she had borrowed from him, the money he had laid aside for that very same insurance. How glad she was that she had done that!

But her sensation of triumph was short-lived, for her husband's next speech crushed it.

THE BILLS INCREASE

"I had the money for that, and paid it, of course. I never let my insurance wait," he continued. "But —well, to tell the truth, Myra, the housekeeping bills—I mean the bills for provisions, are larger than they have been heretofore, but I don't see why. Dear knows we live plainly enough! I did not mean to mention this increased expense—but it's there.

"Then there have been several articles of dress I've had to buy if I would look decent—shoes and gloves, for instance—the Bible fund. It's been impossible for me to save the full amount for the rent. Yes, it'll have to wait. But it's unpleasant to be dunned."

He bent over his eggs and bacon, and his wife watched him, a lump coming to her throat. She remembered how little she had slept, while he had slumbered soundly. She had prepared the breakfast—which she could not eat now—and he had spoken no word of appreciation or of sympathy for her.

Was all of her life to be like this? Why must she be a struggle and strive, working as hard as he did, and yet he be the one to receive all the sympathy, all the appreciation?

Then she reproached herself sharply for her bitter musings as she heard her daughter's step in the hall.

For picturesque variety and romantic appeal the panoramas running like double cinematograph films past the car windows on the great African trunk line can never know a rival. Six thousand miles, across sixty-five degrees of latitude; a score of climates and the lands of a hundred different peoples or tribes; the second largest of the world's rivers and two of its largest lakes; the greatest dam ever built, conserving water for the world's richest lands; the most imposing and ancient of all temples; the greatest waterfall, and the most important gold and diamond mines; and finally, one of the last great expanses of real wilderness, the only place in the world where the wild beasts of the jungle may be seen in their primitive state from a train—all these are seen, traversed, or experienced in twelve years.

Tabloid Tales

Why, Mother, does everyone crowd around the bride and groom with such haste to congratulate 'em?

Because, My Child, it is too late to congratulate them after they have been married long enough to realize what they have done.

What, Mother Mine, is meant by the word "spirituelle"?

It is a word, Dear Child, which sensible people never use. The temperamental apply it to a very thin girl whose father has money. If he were poor no one would say the girl is spirituelle; they would say she is "skinny."

In a woman, Mother Mine, ever satisfied that she married the right man?

She is for six weeks after she marries, My Child. After that she sighs and wonders.

I have never had a lover, Mother Mine, and would like to know what it is that lovers whisper to their sweethearts.

That I may not tell you, Child, for I have long since forgotten. All I know is what men whisper to their wives.

And what is that, Mother?

Just two words, My Child: "Come out!"

What is Popularity, Mother?

It is life as exemplified by the only dog in an orphan asylum for boys. Women enjoy popularity longer than men. A man's popularity seldom survives his wedding day.

What is a secret, Mother Dear?

It is something which you tell every one, but whisper in telling it.

Grace Darling's Talks to Girls

No. 11—The Mistakes of Mothers

By Grace Darling

Whose Talent and Beauty Have Won Her an Enviable Place in the Motion Picture World.

A GREAT big book could be written about the Mistakes of Mothers, and it would be the most pathetic book on earth, because the mistakes of mothers are nearly always made through love.

It is because our mothers love us girls so tenderly that they cannot bear to see us deprived of anything that we want that it is possible for them to get for us, or to have us suffer any hardship, that they raise us up to be idle and selfish and useless and utterly unfit to cope with the difficulties of life.

Our mothers forget that sooner or later we are bound to be thrust out of the home nest, and then whether we soar to the heaven of happiness or break our little necks falling down into the depths of trouble is going to depend on whether we have been taught how to use our wings. And there isn't going to be any mother around to save us from the bumps we are liable to get.

You often hear a mother say, "I don't want my daughter to have to work as I have done," or, "I don't want my daughter to have to cook and sew and economize as I have had to do."

So the mother does not teach her daughter how to make her own clothes, or to keep house, or to get the most out of a dollar, as by the mere fact of the girl's ignorance of practical things was a sort of magic spell that would prevent her from ever needing to know them. It isn't, of course.

Not knowing how to sew or cook doesn't provide you automatically with good clothes or good food, and the result is that the mother's efforts to save her daughter from having to work make her have to work ten times harder.

The little bride who doesn't know whether you order two legs of lamb or one for dinner, and who is discovered sitting in the kitchen in tears amidst the wreck of an edamantine pie, is a figure of fun for the caricaturists and the jokesmith.

But in real life she is a tragic figure, because she is wasting her husband's money, and she is working herself into a state of hysteria and nervous prostration doing things incompetently and lamentously that she should have been taught how to do easily and well.

Practically every young woman's honeymoon is spoiled by her lack of knowledge of domestic affairs, and she's got her own mother to blame for it. It's just as much a shame for any girl to marry, not knowing how to run a house, as it is for a man to marry who can't make enough money to pay the house bills.

If I were a man and found out that I had a wife unloaded upon me who didn't know how to cook or manage, I think I'd be tempted to bundle her back home and sue her mother for damages to my digestion and pocketbook.

Another mistake our mothers make is in coddling us too much. Instead of teaching us to control our tempers, they say we have "such a nervous temperament," when we fly into tantrums.

Instead of teaching us that other people are just as much entitled to their rights as we are, they say we are "so sensitive and so finely strung" that we must not be crossed. Instead of teaching us that we must give and take, they give us everything.

The result is that they make us little monsters of egotism and selfishness, and when we marry and find out that our husbands don't subscribe to mother's theory about our artistic temperament and nerves, and have no idea of sacrificing themselves to us as mother has done, the result is only too often a divorce. The real co-respondent in nine divorces out of ten is mother's mistake.

And if we go out into the world to make our own living, we find that mother's training is equally disastrous, for to be babied and spoiled, and encouraged in your whims doesn't fit you to act like a reasonable human being, and that's what's expected of you in business.

For, you see, mother's great mistake is in forgetting that we have, each of us, to meet the hardships of life, and when we do, we won't have any mother to pad them for us.

Success at Last

The stranger was ushered into the society palmist's presence. "Ah! you wish my aid?" said the great seer.

"Well, madam," said the visitor, "it a way I do. You see, I've just called—"

"Certainly, I know all about it. Just sit here and show me your palm. Ah! I see you have met with various disappointments lately."

"Quite true," interrupted the caller.

"Hush! Let me go on. Something which you have written for and striven hard to get has eluded you time and again."

"Right you are," murmured the victim.

"But, patience. Your end will be attained in the near future. Success yours."

"I'm sure I'm very glad to hear it, madam," said the subject, as he flourished a paper. "I've called five times for the gas bill. It's a good thing I'm to get it at last!"

The Marvels of Astronomy

The Sun, 83,666 Times as Far Away, Would Still be as Bright as the Brightest Star.

By GARRETT P. SERVISS

"HOW far away would the sun have to be to look like a star, and why—if it be true, as I have read—cannot a telescope magnify a star?—C. A."

Since the intensity of light radiated from a given source varies inversely with the square of the distance, the sun would be reduced to the apparent magnitude of the brightest of the stars, Sirius, if its distance from the earth were about 83,666 times as great as it now is.

Its present distance is 93,000,000 miles, and this multiplied by 83,666 becomes 7,780,938,000,000 miles. At that distance the sun would simply be a star in the night equal in brilliance to Sirius, the Dog Star.

This calculation is based upon the observed fact that the amount of light received upon the earth from Sirius is one-7,000,000,000th of that received from the sun, and the square root of 7,000,000,000 is 83,666.

If the sun were 83,666 times its present distance away, its disk would be reduced to an angular diameter of about one-forty-sixth of a second of arc, and the most powerful telescope in existence could not make it visible as a disk. It would appear, as all the fixed stars do, like a piercing point of light, immeasurably small, though intensely brilliant.

The larger the telescope used the brighter it would look, because the larger glasses would collect more light, but still the disk would remain too minute to be perceived or measured.

A FALSE DISK.

It is true that there would be a spurious or false disk, made up of concentric rings of light, due to diffraction, and, owing to these appearances, which vary with the brightness, the stars do seem to have visible disks, but the fact that these are not real becomes evident when we find that they are actually smaller in the telescope than when viewed with the naked eye. The higher the magnifying power employed the more minute the apparent disks!

The practical disappearance of the disk of a star, while its light continues to affect the eye, is due to the inability of the eye to perceive magnitudes below a certain range of minuteness. Perhaps this can best be illustrated in the following way:

On a sheet of paper lying on your desk make a minute circle one-eighth of an inch in diameter. This circle, viewed from the ordinary distance for reading, about fourteen inches, will nearly fill the side as the sun seen in the sky. You will hardly believe this to be possible at first, but it is easily proved to be true. The angular diameter of the sun is about two hundred and one-half a degree, and that is also the angular diameter of a one-eight-inch circle fourteen inches from the eye.

This shows us graphically the interesting relation between visual magnitude and distance. A globe 860,000 miles in diameter, viewed from a distance of 92,900,000 miles, appears no larger than a circle one-eighth of an inch in diameter viewed from the ordinary distance for reading a book!

A MERE DOT.

Now, let the sun be removed to eight times its present distance. Its angular diameter will become one-sixteenth of a degree, and in order to represent its size upon your sheet of paper you will have to decrease your little circle to a diameter of only one-sixty-fourth of an inch, which is the size of a very small printers' point or period!

Next, remove the sun ten times farther, or, in all, eighty times its present distance. Its diameter will then have become the one hundred and sixtieth of a degree, and your dot on the paper representing its size to the eye will have shrunk to a diameter of only one-six hundred and fortieth of an inch; in other words, it will have become smaller than a pin's point and ceased to be visible in a strong light its disk will be far too minute for measurement without a magnifying glass.

At a distance, then, of eighty times 92,900,000, or 7,440,000,000 miles, the sun would present a disk too small to be distinctly seen without a telescope, although it would still shed upon the earth about a million times as much light as comes from the brightest of the stars. Sirius!

It would continue to be a sun to us, rather than a star, making a daylight about a thousand times more intense than the light of a full moon. Yet all that light would come from a disk imperceptibly small (to the unaided eye), although the spurious disk formed would be very conspicuous.

A SIMPLE COMPARISON

Putting the sun at greater and greater distances, we should find its disk getting smaller and smaller, until even a telescope could not reveal it, and its light diminishing until at length that, too, would become too faint to be perceived.

The enormous distance between the sensitiveness of the eye to light and its sensitiveness to minute spatial magnitude may be shown by simply supposing our vanishing sun, representing the sun's size on paper, to possess a power of light diminished, equal, area for area, to that of the sun. In that case we could see the shining circle when it had shrunk to an angular diameter of only a few thousandths of a second of arc, just as we could see the gun as a faint star if it were removed to several million times its present distance. The star on the paper and the star in the sky would be precisely alike!

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

NOTHING TO QUARREL ABOUT

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty years old and am in love with a Russian-born girl of about the same age.

I have every reason to believe that my love is returned.

But this is the trouble.

Every time we go to a show or to an affair together she always insists on paying her own fare and admission.

Only last week she did this in a way very embarrassing to me.

As we were on our way to a theatre she pressed me a dollar bill and said, "Here is the price of my ticket."

I felt very foolish at having to take money from her, but as she refused to get change I paid for herself I had no alternative.

M. N.

THE custom of our country is that a young man pay the expenses of the girl he is escorting to any place of amusement. Custom has made this correct, and because we are creatures of habit naturally you resent this girl's independent spirit. But there is nothing to quarrel about. Her spirit is admirable if misdirected. She simply is not the sort of girl to follow the modern custom of "grafting," but try to make her understand how proud and glad you are of the mere privilege of being her escort and how you dislike any money question to come up between you.

WHY NOT ASK HIM?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am corresponding with a young man who is now in prison. I know he is a respectable man, but through bad influence was led to do wrong. I am trying to help him so that when he gets back it will be easier for him to keep straight. With each letter I enclose a stamp—as I know he is in need of money. Am I insulting him?

A. L. B.

IF the man were insulted at your little piece of thoughtfulness he would probably tell you so. But I think the very best thing for you to do is to ask him quite frankly if he minds this course on the part of a sincere friend.

ASK YOUR DOCTOR.

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Am going about with a young man who has been away for one year with consumption. We are to become engaged next month, and my parents object on account of his health, although he feels better. We love each other dearly, and I have consulted a doctor about getting married, and was told, "Yes," and still my parents do not want me to marry him.

W. M. L.

MY advice in this matter is not what you need. You need the expert opinion of a reputable physician. I think if the young man were to go to your family doctor for examination, your parents would be very glad to take his opinion.

PRIZEFIGHTS NOT FOR WOMEN, SAYS JOHN L.

The great John L. Sullivan does not like the idea of women going to prizefights.

"Now, look here," John L. says; "would you want your wife to go to a prizefight? Would you even want her to want to go? Of course you wouldn't, if you admire those things in woman that are so much better than what we here have in us.

"I wouldn't want my wife to see a fight. Why? Well, I don't exactly know why, but I'm mighty well sure I wouldn't want her there. And it goes against my grain to see other women there. But I want you to understand that I don't think that any woman is bad just because she does attend a fight. Boxing has always been considered a man's sport, and I think it always will be."

TO WIN OVER YOUNG MEN.

Rev. William C. R. Vinten, assistant pastor of the Ruggles Street Baptist Church, who has just started the "Other Fellow" Club, one of whose objects is to win young men from interest in prize fighting, indorses the views of Rev. H. R. Whitlock, pastor of the Brighton Avenue Baptist Church, who puts down as a "little off" in his head the young man who is talking about prize fights all the time.

Rev. Mr. Vinten has had a long experience with young men, and his new club is an effort to lift their thoughts to a higher level.

"You must expect young men to talk about the Willard-Moran fight as long as that is made the most interesting thing for them," declared this minister. "Prize fighting cannot be got out of some young men's minds by simply railing against it.

AGAINST PRIZE RING.

"The efforts of the Hearst newspapers to discredit the prize ring are in the right direction, but the ministers and social leaders must cooperate with them.

"You've got to offer something to take the place of prize fighting that is equally as interesting to young men. I believe we should pay more attention to legitimate sports in churches and encourage young men to take an interest in sports that are clean and healthy.

"Prize fighting is a coarse exhibition of brute strength, there is no real sport in it. The 'Other Fellow' Club will consider every Wednesday evening, what can be done to interest young men in legitimate sports.

"You can't get rid of prize fighting until you are ready to give something to take its place. That's what our church is trying to do. We have a well equipped gymnasium, and if you could see how eager the young men are to enjoy it, you would realize there is something there to build on.

"That is what we mean to do."

NEW STYLE IN SHEET MUSIC

A new style in sheet music, designed for the convenience of the public, has just been introduced on the market. It applies to popular songs. The insert sheets have been eliminated and the music is printed on two pages, which may be spread on the piano rack before the player and played without turning a page.

The notes and lyrics are a trifle smaller than formerly, but the differences is not enough to matter. The advantage is that there will be no more painful pauses in the piano playing while waiting for some one to turn the page of music; or, if there is no one to turn, then while the player stops long enough to turn the page. This will be obviated by having the complete song, or instrumental piece, as the case may be, plainly in view.

The music trade has accepted the innovation with delight, and it is expected the public will herald it as a great convenience. Leo Feist, the big New York publisher, is responsible for the change.

Among the new editions which will consist of the two-page condensation are the famous "M-O-T-H-E-R" song; "While I'm in America"; "There's a Broken Heart for Every Light on Broadway"; "Don't Bite the Hand That's Feeding You"; "Those Good Old Days Back Home"; "Are You Half the Man Your Mother Thought You'd Be?" "You Can't Get Along With 'Em or Without 'Em," and Percy Wenrich's new work, "Sweet Cider Time When You Were Mine."

SOCIETY GIRL HURT BY DARING DIVE

New York, April 3.—Almost helpless from injuries suffered when she made a high dive into shallow water, Miss Marjorie Starkweather Chase, prominent in society of Waterbury, Ct., came home today aboard the United Fruit liner Sixaola. Miss Chase has spent two months in the West Indies. Being an expert swimmer she performed many daring feats and on one occasion when at Port Antonio, Jamaica, miscalculated her position and plunged from a great height into water of little depth. Miss Chase is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Hall Chase.

De GOGORZIA ILL; CANCELS CONCERTS

New York, April 3.—Word was received here today that Emilio de Gogorza, the tenor, is suffering from meningitis in New Orleans. He is under the care of Dr. Joachim, who declares that it will be a week or ten days before the singer will be able to resume work. De Gogorza was under contract to sing in several of the big Western cities this week and next. The engagements have been cancelled.

STRONG AT THE OPENING.

Stocks were on a little upward swing in New York at the opening, the first time since yesterday the markets at the opening showed any strength. Some pleasure was manifested on the part of the bulls over the fact that the stock exchanges, in being the only ones where copper could be traded in, were not closing down. Whether this was much of a factor in the strength of those directly interested in the metal was not evident, however, as the buying was not in any way unusual. Demand for a number of specialties helped the market.

LOCAL MARKET WAS STRONG.

The Boston market opened strong, but was dull and narrow during the first hour. It was not as strong as the market in New York reports and was influenced by the fear of the future in the matter of trading caused by the failure of trading interest to the extent expected when the exchange was opened.

Nothing definite has been reported to cause any material change, but it is understood that domestic business is improving and that there is a fairly large visible supply of copper increased 5,419 tons in the last half of March.

The Employes of the Bay State Street Railway Will Do Well to Keep Cool and Go Slow

LET us hope that the employes of the Bay State will proceed with great caution and moderation.

On the surface of the published facts, at least, the case seems to be stronger for the company than for the men. The company has an undoubted right to discharge an employe for an accumulation of faults, no one of which would be sufficient for discharge, but all of which taken together would be more than sufficient. The company alleges that it is willing to arbitrate the discharge upon all the grounds upon which it claims that the man was discharged. No valid reason yet appears why all these grounds should not be taken into consideration.

The AMERICAN has always stood with the workingmen against these corporations in their reasonable demands for more wages and shorter hours. But employes cannot run their employer's business. It is one thing to insist upon certain general rules and it is quite another thing to meddle in the details of management. No large business can be conducted under such conditions.

The claim of the men that this discharge was a discrimination against organized labor, of course puts this particular case upon a special ground, but the company seems to have met the claim fairly by its offer to arbitrate under the standing rules.

All the facts may not be known to us at the present writing, but the general consideration which we urge will apply in any event.

The Reactionaries Up On Beacon Hill Are Reviving the "Good Old Days" of the Lobby

But Governor McCall Has Surprised Them in Several Matters Already and Perhaps He May Surprise Them Again

APPARENTLY the Republican Legislature thinks it proper to celebrate the return of the Republican party to power in this State by bringing back to us the old-fashioned days at the State House when the committees were packed by the corporation lobbyists and the committee reports were jammed through the Legislature without respect to their merits.

We have just been presented with an exhibition of the old-time methods in the defeat of the proposed Constitutional Amendment which would enable us to levy a graduated income tax—the only income tax which is fair and the income tax which is levied by nearly all the nations of the world because it is the only just income tax.

Now we are to be treated with another sad exhibition, if one of the controlled committees has its way. It is seriously proposed to consolidate the Public Service Commission with the Gas and Electric Light Commission and to reduce their salaries. This is again the return to the "good old days" when everything went in Massachusetts.

Considerably more than twenty years ago, when misconduct and extortion of the gas and electric light companies of Massachusetts reached a stage of scandal, Governor Russell appointed Mr. John T. Wheelwright to be chairman of the Board of Gas and Electric Light Commissioners. Mr. Wheelwright immediately proceeded to stop the stock-watering schemes of these companies which were then running amuck in the State. It happened that Mr. Wheelwright had a prosperous private practice which he could not give up for the uncertain tenure of a public office with a small salary. Therefore, the outraged corporations proceeded to get rid of his irksome interference with their business by causing to be passed a law compelling the members of that commission to give their entire time to the work of the commission. Of course, Mr. Wheelwright had to resign and the corporation lobbyists laughed.

When Mr. George W. Anderson's activities had reached the pestiferous stage to the corporation lobbyists they proceeded to imitate the conduct of their progenitors with respect to Mr. Wheelwright, and they passed a law requiring the Public Service Commission to give its entire time to the work of the commission. Mr. Anderson, of course, could not give up his private practice, and was therefore legislated out of office, AND THE CORPORATION LOBBYISTS LAUGHED.

Now the [illegible] two members on the Gas and Electric Light Commission who are not at all satisfactory to the gas and electric light companies. They hold views concerning the capitalization of surplus and other important matters which are entirely in accord with the public interest, but which are very irritating to the gas and electric light companies. There are also on the Public Service Commission at least two members who are giving all their time to the public work and considerably more than the average man gives in time to his private work. Their activities in the public interest are very irritating to the corporations, so it is desired to get rid of them also.

This time the method varies a little. The corporations propose now to rid themselves of the annoyance of these four guardians of the public interest on these two commissions by the trick of consolidating the two commissions, reducing the salaries of the commissioners and thus giving Governor McCall an opportunity to appoint new men.

These lobbyists who control the committee which has made this extraordinary report are relying upon Governor McCall's well-known railroad record in Congress to make SAFE AND SANE appointments for the corporations. But Governor McCall has surprised some of these gentlemen in several matters already this year, and perhaps he might surprise them again. In any event, if this scheme to emasculate these two important commissions and to get rid of four worthy men is successful, the Republican party in this Commonwealth will have cause to regret it.

ALL RIGHT, LOTT, I'LL BE READY
HA, HA! GET OUT OF THERE, TIBERIUS! YOU SEE, GENERAL, HE'S VERY FOND OF THE WATER.
OW OO!
WILLY WILLIE, WHAT'S THE TROUBLE? HAVE YOU BEEN BOTHERING THE GENERAL?
HE MAY BE A GENERAL BUT HE'S GOT A TERRIBLE DISPOSITION

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

The Gag

OUTSPAKE Josephus Daniels: "I solemnly command
My admirals to say no word I cannot understand
If they must talk to Congressmen and minions of the press,
Let them confine themselves to speech whose meaning I can guess.
Instruct them all, both high and low, hereafter to refrain
From any phrase or term that tends to tangle up my brain."

FROM aerial to aerial, across the seven seas
Wherever swam the Stars and Stripes upon the morning breeze,
The wireless spark this message flashed: "Henceforth confine all speech
To Congress or to press within J. Daniels' mental reach.
The admiral of any grade shall bitterly regret
The uttering of anything Josephus cannot get."

"AYE, aye!" replied the admirals—obedient seamen they—
"We hear the secretary's word and willingly obey!
We'll talk of shoes and sealing wax, but not a word of ships
Or anything allied to them shall ever pass our lips.
We'll talk of beets and horseshoe nails, and chicken giblet gravy,
For Daniels wouldn't get us if we talked about the navy!"

Why Is a Tonic?

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects

PART ONE

THE reason for tonics is that hope springs eternal in the human breast. They are an outward visible sign of the inward and irrepressible belief that no matter how dark the day, how desperate our state, there is always something to be found, something to be done which will redeem the situation and turn our darkness into light. And for the relief of all the evils to which the flesh is heir that Something most commonly comes in a bottle and is taken by the tablespoonful.

Why the spirit of deliverance, to which we so eagerly turn in bodily troubles, should take the particular form of tonics is in some respects a mystery.

For of all bitter, distasteful and unappetizing doses tonics are the worst. And the nastier they are the more profound our confidence in them.

What makes the question more difficult is that what we call tonics have no food value or strengthening power whatever, and the more carefully we study them the less we are able to find any definite effect or curative power about them.

That they taste bitter and improve the appetite seems to almost all that we can say about them. Yet taking tonics is one of the most universal habits of the human race in every clime and age.

One reason which helps to account for their extraordinary prevalence is our keen desire for something different. However futile they may be in other respects, they do at least change the taste in our mouth. And after one nauseating dose, bitter enough to fairly take your breath, almost any kind of food, however poor and flavorless, will taste tolerable by comparison.

The poorer and more monotonous the diet, the duller and drearier the lives of the community, the greater and the more constant the consumption of tonics.

Tonics are anything but a recent invention or their manufacture a modern industry. On the contrary, we may console ourselves with the fact that their use is diminishing rapidly within the last twenty and particularly the last ten years.

For we have come to recognize that the best tonic is a change of diet, a change of scene or even a change of mental air, such as a visit to the movies, a dance or an open-air concert. The great practical advantage of the old bitters and stimulants was that they cost very little — a fifty-cent bottle would last you a long time—compared with the expense of better food, better housing, shorter hours of work and healthful amusements.

Chance for English Women

Ella Wheeler Wilcox Says

To Win New World Place

Should Lay Aside Mask of Haughtiness and Indifference for Demeanor of Gracious Kindliness—Often Misjudged by Strangers Because of Their Distant Manners

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

THE editor of Pearson's Magazine writes from London as follows:

"In these days of national upheaval it seems to me imperative that some lead should be given to the women of England, so that out of the chaos they may be helped to form saner ideals, nobler principles, and a larger conception of the place which awaits them when peace is once more established.

"I feel confident that women everywhere are waiting for this message, and that they are looking to the known leaders of social life for the inspiration which will help them to find themselves."

The editor of Pearson's wants this writer's suggestions, and they are given gladly and freely through the medium of the Boston AMERICAN.

There are no more charming and lovable women on earth than the English women when one comes to know them.

There is only one other country which can produce more disagreeable women, when met casually, in travel and at resorts, than England has produced.

If the English woman wants now to find herself, let her first see herself as others see her. Let her know that the cold, distant, haughty exterior which she carries into the world and which she utterly discards like a mask (as it is) in her own home, is unbecoming, and that it awakens in the hearts of amiable and kind people impulses of resentment and dislike which are destructive to both the sender and the receiver.

Congenial and Lovable When They Throw Aside Their Haughty Masks

It does not create a Christian feeling or promulgate that sense of brotherhood and sisterhood which must exist before the New Golden Age can be established on earth.

A two weeks' stay in an English resort a few years ago aroused in our hearts—the hearts of two very good-natured and amiable Americans—a sense of exasperation toward two English people who sat at the table next our own, and who were often near us in the music room and elsewhere.

Our slight overtures toward courteous treatment were met with a cold stare, and utter indifference marked their demeanor during the entire fortnight. Similar experiences had been passed through on ships and at other resorts in England and in the English colonies.

On leaving one place we were, curiously enough, placed in the same compartment with the haughty couple—when, lo and behold! after a few hours the mask was thrown aside, and the delightful, cultured and genial English nature shone forth. We were later invited to the home of this couple, and have for a period of several years been the best of friends.

The man is an officer at the front today and the wife a Red Cross nurse. It was discovered that her distant manner really hid a timid and shrinking nature which lacked self-confidence and poise in meeting strangers.

This is frequently the explanation of this English frigidity of deportment; a deportment which conceals hearts as warm and genial as any which beat in human breasts. But let the English women know that their attitude is unnecessarily and disagreeably repelling, and let them realize that if they would be helpers in the world and lifters of the race they must unbend and unmask.

Then let all right-thinking English women start a crusade against the smoking habit which characterizes the nation. It was from England, not from Russia or Turkey, or any other land, that the American woman adopted this ungraceful and unsanitary habit.

The "smart" women of England took it up — heaven only knows why or how, but we first saw it in the English plays, and we later saw it in English drawing-rooms, and still later in the hotels and on ships and, in truth, everywhere that we saw the English woman of position.

So universal has it been for some years that one who was a visitor in England and did not smoke was obliged to explain her "eccentricity."

If, as the editor of Pearson's says, the English women are waiting to find their place of usefulness when peace is established, let them drop this unlovely habit.

Then perhaps the American women, who pattern all their vices after foreign fashions, will throw away their cigarettes and come into the march of progress toward a cleaner and saner way of life.

We asked a distinguished and brilliant Englishman who was at the head of the medical department in Ceylon, "Why is it that English people in general and English women in particular, are the most disagreeable human beings one meets abroad, and the most delightful and lovable of souls when met in their own land and homes?"

Should Now Change Her Demeanor to One of Gracious Kindness

"I don't know why it is," he replied, "but I do know it is a fact. I see it and hear it expressed wherever I go. One thing, English women are in truth very retiring and timid by nature, and very much afraid of being forced into the limelight. They shield themselves in consequence behind this distant demeanor, which is often mistaken for self-satisfaction and indifference to others."

But since this demeanor has caused the English woman to be disliked so universally when she is met outside of her home, it would be well for her now to consider the advisability of changing her manner to one of gracious affability and kindness; let her not be afraid to show the transient acquaintance or the stranger encountered in travel a little of the lovely nature and tender heart which characterize her on her native heath.

Trusting the editor of Pearson's will pass on these suggestions from one American woman to all English women, I am his and theirs for reform.

Memories

By William F. Kirk

FOR a tree that was green in the long ago,
And a hundred lights that shone,
I am longing tonight as the blaze sinks low,
And darkness broods on her throne,
For one soft croon of an old, old tune
My queen-mother sang to me;
I would give the things that the fat world brings
In the toy-bag of Destiny.

I would give the wiles and the witching smiles
That gladdened my quickening heart,
In the wine-blurred days when I trod the ways
That meet and tangle and part.
I would give my place in the weary race,
To one who stumbles and slips;
For the smile that lies in a mother's eyes,
And the kiss of a mother's lips.
